Giant American Seaplanes Fly From Halifax to Trepassey For "Big Hop" Overseas

NC-1 AND NC-4 ON SECOND LEG

Took to Air at Halifax at 9 O'Clock This Morning—NC-3 Forced To Return

Propeller Repaired and Plane Started For Second Time at 12.35

HALIFAX, N. S., May 10.—Two of the American hydroairplanes assigned to the transatlantic flight were en route today to Trepassey, N. F., starting point of the projected cruise to Portugal, via the Azores, and thence to Plymouth, Eng.

With the NC-1 commanded by Lieut. Commander P. N. L. Bellinger, more than 200 miles on his way, Commander John H. Towers, chief of the expedition, took to the air for the second time at 12.35 p. m., after he had been forced by propeller trouble on the NC-3 to return to the base here when he had flown 50 miles on the original journey begun this morning.

The disablement of the NC-3, following the smashing of a propeller during the surface cruise in the harbor before the first start, was quickly remedied by installation of new apparatus from the stores of the mine layer Baltimore, stationed here as a flag tender.

Commander Towers said that he had lost touch with the NC-1, last reported speeding across the open sea from the eastern tip of Nova Scotia to Newfoundland, when it was 150 miles out of this port.

With the ideal weather conditions of the morning still prevailing, Commander Towers hoped to reach Trepassey before nightfall.

Big Four Discusses Action To Be Taken if Germany Refuses To Sign

German Delegates Preparing Counter Proposals—Seek New Peace Negotiations

PARIS, May 10.—It is understood that among the subjects discussed by the Council of Four at its meeting today was the eventuality of Germany refusing to sign the peace treaty and what steps should be taken in that event.

It is said that no intimation that Germany intended taking such a course, has reached the allies, but they are taking nothing for granted, and the discussion of the subject by the representatives of the powers today was by way of preparation for such an eventuality, however remote. The German cabinet council has decided upon the wording of a note that Germany will present without delay to the allies, according to a Havas despatch from Zurich.

Gen. March Announces That Over One Million Have Returned From France

Movement From France During Month of April, Totalled 303,178

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Demobilization of the war army has passed the two million mark, General March, chief of staff, announced today and the number of troops returned from France now exceeds one million.

Official estimates of the general staff show that a continuation of the present rate of transporting troops from France will result in the demobilization by August 1 of the American force in France and Germany to 225,921 officers and men, including combat and service of supply troops, marine detachments and the navy personnel attached to the army.

The movement from France during the month of April totalled 303,178. General March said that the acceleration of the official schedule is proceeding to the point where it seems certain that the official estimate of 310,000 per month will be reached and exceeded.

DEATH KNEEL OF OLD AUSTRIA SOUNDED

VIENNA, Thursday, May 8. (By the Associated Press)—The death knell of old Austria was sounded in parliament this afternoon when Chancellor Renner, in accepting the nomination as a peace delegate to go to St. Germain, said he relinquished all hopes for a fusion with Germany. His speech was made while the impression caused by the allies terms to Germany was still strong. The feeling in the chamber was, according to one speaker, that "it would be madness to unite with a nation subject to such measures."

"The Austrian people must suffer for the misdeeds of their rulers," the chancellor said. "We never wanted the war and we were not guilty of bringing it about. I will do my best to secure better terms for ourselves."

Victory Loan Quota For North Middlesex District Heavily Over-Subscribed

City Banks Sell $390,000

Worth of Bonds This Morning, in Final Drive

Lowell and the North Middlesex Victory loan district came through with all colors flying today. The quota has not only been reached but a generous over-subscription is a surety. With the Union National bank total approximated at $175,000 for today's business, Lowell banks early this afternoon reported a total for today of $370,000, which places the city's net total in the neighborhood of $5,350,000, or about $120,000 over the quota of $5,275,000. The towns in the district also are over, but for a few days will not be known for a few days. Some of the banks will remain open this evening and the above amounts will be augmented considerably.

The Middlesex Trust Co. sold $45,800 worth of bonds this morning; Lowell Trust Co., $20,500; Wameet National, $15,650; Old Lowell, $23,400; Appleton National, $18,000; and the Union National, approximately $175,000. A little of this is credited to towns, but the percentage is so small that it may be considered Lowell's in practically its entirety. The Appleton bank reported subscriptions of $10,000 from the N. E. Movie company and $10,000 from the Carleton & Hovey Co., as well as $1650 from the latter firm's employees.

CONNECTICUT AND VERMONT were officially over-subscribed, the former's total of $62,816,000 representing 127 per cent of the quota while Vermont's $9,798,000, was 108 per cent.

WILD SCENES AT LEGION MEETING

Col. Herbert of Worcester, Denounces Chicago and Its Mayor—Uproar Follows

Attack Kills Selection of Chicago For Next Meeting

—Minneapolis Chosen

ST. LOUIS, May 10.—A warning to Bolshevism was sounded at yesterday's session of the American Legion, when delegates representing America's great fighting force assembled to perfect the organization of veterans of the world war.

It was from the Bay State delegation that came the first hisses and boos at the mere mention of Bolshevism and of I.W.W. A Massachusetts man it was Colonel John F. J. Herbert of Worcester, whose ringing denunciation of Mayor Thompson and the citizenry of Chicago threw the entire caucus into the wildest bedlam of demonstration since its opening, wilder even than when Lieutenant-Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was honored on the opening day.

Then, not content with their noisy approval, the delegates went even further in their show of appreciation of Colonel Herbert's ringing speech. They tore from the walls of the caucus theatre banners marked "Chicago," badges that the Illinois delegation had pinned on their coats and crumpled them under foot. Then even, not content they continued in uproar for more than 10 minutes as they shouted, "Kill the Bolsheviks," "Down with the I.W.W.," "to hell with Thompson and pro-Germanism" and "Now we're back we'll fix the Bolsheviks."

Colonel Herbert's attack came when the committee on the next meeting place reported that they had decided unanimously upon Chicago as their recommendation.

"We Want Thompson"

A Chicago speaker had urged his city's request be accepted. Even then, as the speaker said, "We'll give you anything you want," came a cry from the Texas delegation in the balcony, "We Want Thompson."

It passed almost unnoticed in the bedlam that prevailed as representatives of city after city tried to gain recognition to speak for or against Chicago. Colonel Herbert was the first of the opposition to be heard.

The caucus became a bedlam. The cheering was incessant and the Illinois delegation were silent. It was minutes before Colonel Herbert could continue and then he said:

"This hall has been placarded with invitations, 'The American Legion, Chicago wants you in November.' I believe that at this convention, this convention of soldiers should say, 'Chicago cannot have American soldiers in Chicago when there is a possibility that the chief representative of that city may not believe it is his duty to come before the convention and welcome it' (Applause). If these placards read, 'American Legion, Chicago soldiers want you in November,' our answer might be different. The answer of Massachusetts would be different, but when your place reads, 'Chicago wants you in November,' the answer of Massachusetts is 'Chicago cannot have you in November—on any other time until Chicago has an American for mayor in an American city.'

The literature circulated through the convention reads, 'Chicago pledges itself to go any other city one better on anything this convention requires.' This convention first requires that Chicago shall reach a standard different from the standard of being the most despised city in America, and when it has reached this standard it is then in a position to say whether it can go one better. It has not yet reached par. Until Chicago reaches par, Massachusetts votes no."

Herbert is Idolized

Colonel Herbert seated himself only to be pulled from his chair by wildly cheering delegates. They whanged his back, they pounded him again and again. From all sections of the house came howls of "All boy, Massachusetts." "To hell with Thompson," "Nothing doing on Chicago," "All American or nothing."

Captain H. Fairfield Osborn of New York reached from the tier of seats in the rear of the stage and snatched down the Chicago banner. Other delegates tore it to bits. Another banner over the heads of the Illinois delegation was treated similarly. Chairman Lindsay tried in vain to restore order and hastily appointed Colonel H. M. Bush of Ohio and Major Hamilton Fish of New York extra sergeants-at-arms. Even with them circulating about the auditorium and baton it was nearly 15 minutes before order was finally restored. Then came defiance from Major John E.

"FAKE" ASPIRIN WAS TALCUM

Therefore Insist Upon Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin"

Millions of fraudulent Aspirin Tablets were sold by a manufacturer which later proved to be composed mainly of Talcum powder. "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" the true, genuine, American and American owned Tablets are marked with the safety "Bayer Cross."

Ask for and then insist upon "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" and always buy them in the original Bayer package which contains proper directions and dosage.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monacaenide of Salicylic acid.

Cummings of Chicago. He said, in part:

"Gentlemen, I don't believe there is a single delegate to this caucus who could be so unfair as to impugn the patriotism of 650,000 men who rallied to the colors of this country by saying 'Because Chicago had a mayor of which they are all ashamed that they are not patriotic.' Had the men who were serving the colors in France been in Chicago, they would have had no apology to offer for their mayor."

Patriotism Was Abroad

Delegate Hawkins managed to get in a word. He said: "The great state of Illinois stands unchallenged in patriotism of its soldiers throughout the world. I am only sorry that we didn't leave enough patriots at home to elect a patriotic mayor of that great city. We are in the embarrassing position of having a man who has repudiated the things we went out to die for. Either you have got to repudiate us or repudiate him."

Delegate Baker of Indiana arose with fire in his eye. Casting on the door his Chicago ribbon, he said:

"Until the gentleman from Massachusetts spoke a few minutes ago we wore the Chicago ribbons and although we live on the outskirts of Chicago, we now throw them on the floor."

After another half-hour of rumbling, the names of the following cities were placed on the balloting: Los Angeles, Chicago, Minneapolis, Atlantic City, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Indianapolis, San Francisco and Kansas City.

The New England states voted as follows: Massachusetts for Pittsburg, Maine for Minneapolis, New Hampshire for Pittsburg, Rhode Island for Minneapolis, Vermont, for Pittsburg, and Connecticut for Minneapolis.

On the final ballot, which was narrowed to two cities, the result was 603 votes for Minneapolis and 456 for Pittsburg. The Minnesota delegates went wild when they heard the result.

"American Legion" Adopted

The committee on a permanent name, of which Maj. Waldemar P. Adams of Portland, Me., is chairman, reported a unanimous choice for the American Legion of World War Veterans.

The caucus was by no means unanimous on the subject. Maj. C. H. Wickes, heading the New York delegation, moved to amend by striking out the last four words, and while about 20 others had ideas for names, Maj. Wickes' motion finally prevailed.

The committee on credentials, in addition to barring the soldiers' and sailors' council, recommended that the American Army association and the American Legion of World War Veterans, which had been given 12 votes the day before, be given but a single vote in the caucus. This report was adopted.

The committee on resolutions reported but one resolution, urging all Americans to subscribe to the Victory Loan. This committee, which has a mass of business ahead of it, went into executive session at 8 o'clock last night and was still in session at midnight. Of this committee, Maj. Louis A. Frothingham of Massachusetts is chairman. The most important business before it concerns resolutions affecting a six months' extra pay bonus for veterans, two resolutions denouncing prohibition, one calling for the independence of Ireland and one endorsing the League of Nations.

Resolutions on Ireland

The extra pay $100 was drawn by Maj. Knox of New Hampshire. The Irish resolution was drafted by members of the Massachusetts delegation and is signed by 20 of its members, as follows:

The Shelburne European Plan, J. W. Kelk, Mgr.

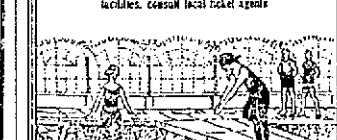

Hotel Strand, H. D. Hart and H. C. Edwards

L.H.S. SENIORS HOLD ANNUAL SOCIAL

With many former students present to join in the happy affair the senior class of the high school held its annual social and informal party last evening in high school hall. Without exception this annual event is anticipated like no other and the sociability of last night's party easily ranks it with those of other years. The hall was most attractively decorated with pink and white bunting and American flags, while the severe outline of the stage was obliterated by palms and other green plants. Dancing was enjoyed from 8 o'clock until 11:30, music being furnished by Savage's Jazz orchestra.

The officers of the senior class were in charge of the social, as follows: President, Robert Mullan; first vice president, Ernest Moller; second vice president, Marion Dowd; secretary, Evelyn Craven and treasurer, Glenn Marshall. Headmaster Herbert D. Bixby was present, and the following members of the faculty served as matrons: Miss Mary C. Joyce, Miss Mille Seaverance, Miss Ruth Eaton, Miss Ruth Sawyer, Miss Adelaide Baker, Miss Alice Bachelet and Miss Loretta A. McManamon. Refreshments were served during an intermission by Caterer Sharf.

It is safe to say the huge quota of $7,000,000, of which Lowell bore the lion's share, with her quota of $5,275,000, will be over-subscribed by thousands of dollars. And this gigantic task, entered upon in the face of peace, with the element of patriotism cut to half its previous worth as an actuator of purchasing, has been accomplished without falling back on the national banks for subscriptions to carry the loan through. This is what the federal government wanted, as it deplored the emergency which would cause the national banks to cripple their reservoirs of ready money by tying up themselves with bonds.

As early as 10 o'clock this forenoon it was evident that the district was "going over," for even at that early hour the Union National bank had subscriptions on hand amounting to $110,000, included in which were: Talbot mills, Billerica, $25,000; Boott mills, $50,000, and more than 200 Boott employees, $20,000. The Appleton National bank did about $65,000 worth of bond business in the first banking hour, and the Wamesit National reported a subscription of $10,000 from Reuben Dunford, to be credited to Chelmsford. The Old Lowell bank reported heavy individual buying and had a rough total of $13,000 at 10:30 o'clock.

From the towns came glad tidings of over-subscriptions, and all but two of the six towns reported as "under" yesterday came up with a rush this morning. Shirley, $7000 behind last night, exceeded her quota of $37,000 by $13,000 this forenoon, the total there now standing at approximately $55,000. North Reading telephoned to loan headquarters that the town did not need any help from "Mother" Reading, as its quota of $15,000 had been exceeded. Acton, with a total of $71,000 against a quota of $86,000 yesterday, this morning dispelled all the little glooms in the village and kibitzed in with an over-subscription. It was fine stuff and all helped to put the district in the honor class she has so conspicuously graced in the four previous loan campaigns.

Of the 20 towns in the district, Dracut and Ayer alone have failed to reach their quotas, but enough over-subscription is in to more than carry these communities through. Both of these towns made big gains today, but failed a little in reaching their goals.

Several big subscriptions came to light late yesterday afternoon, including: Middlesex Co., $20,000 additional; U. S. Bunting Co. employees, $15,000; Sterling mill employees, $5,000; Belvidere Woolen Co. employees, $1750; Hon. Charles H. Allen, $20,000; Thompson Hardware Co., $2000; E. W. Hoyt Co., $2000; C. L. Hood Co. employees, $1500; and Lowell Electric Light Corp. employees, $3750. From Boston came $20,000 from the Saco-Lowell Co., and $20,000, William A. Carroll. The Lowell Aeris of Eagles has purchased $6000 worth of bonds, taking $1000 in each of six savings banks.

BRITISH SEIZE MANSION HOUSE

Act Not Aimed at Suppression of Irish Parliament—To Get Prisoners

Reception to American Delegates Later Held in Mansion

DUBLIN, Friday, May 3.—The military occupation of the Mansion House here, which was erected by soldiers and police shortly before 5:30 o'clock this afternoon, was not aimed at the suppression of the Irish parliament, whose sessions are held there, but was intended to effect the arrest of Robert Barton and J. J. Walsh, Sinn Fein members of parliament, and others who had recently escaped from Mountjoy prison and were believed to be in the building.

Dawson street, on which the Mansion House stands, and all the adjoining streets, were cleared of people and tramway traffic was suspended.

The Sinn Fein parliament which had met earlier in the day, had adjourned, but the building was to be used in the evening for the reception by the lord mayor to Frank P. Walsh, Michael F. Ryan and former Governor Edward Dunne, of Illinois, the visiting representatives of Irish societies of America. The troops remained in the structure nearly two hours, by which time the lord mayor's guests for the reception were arriving. These guests, including the American delegates, were held up outside the cordon of troops with machine guns which had been thrown about the building.

Eventually, the troops were withdrawn without having captured the men who were sought. The reception then proceeded.

Large crowds outside cheered the Sinn Fein leaders as they arrived.

The Sinn Fein parliament had previously accorded the delegates a reception. The welcoming address of Edward De Valera, the Sinn Feiner, declared: "Ireland will never be cleared by England" and expressed cordial thanks to the delegates for "coming to defend the right."

He regretted that the short time the Americans would stay in Ireland would not permit them to see representative Irishmen differing with the Sinn Feiners. He said that they would find that "except for the Unionists, a substantial unanimity exists in Ireland" and that the "English press had distorted insignificant differences." He complained that Irishmen who had fought during the war had done so trusting in the promises of the English.

Frank P. Walsh declared that America denied the claim that the Irish question was not an international one. Edward Dunne said that the recent general election had proved that three-fourths of Ireland demanded the creation of a republic.

CHINA TO SEND PROTEST TO U. S.

To Ask Congress Not To Ratify Decision on Kiao-Chau and Shantung

Not To Sign Unless Given Written Assurance Japan Will Return Kiao-Chau

PARIS, Friday, May 3.—A motion to cable the United States Senate asking it not to ratify the decision of the peace conference regarding the disposition of Shantung and Kiao-Chau, was adopted today at a meeting under the auspices of "The Chinese Society for International Peace" and attended by the Chinese ambassador and members of the Chinese delegation to the peace conference.

A letter was read from President Wilson, in which he expressed his regret that his engagements prevented him from accepting an invitation to be present.

The speakers included Charles R. Crane, of Chicago, who expressed sympathy with China's demand. Among the Chinese speakers were Miss M. Tchong, a well known feminist, and Mr. Chen, proprietor of the Peking Gazette. They severely criticized the decision of the council of three.

It seems unlikely that China will sign the treaty of peace unless she is given written assurance that Japan will return Kiao-Chau to China.

Without such written promise the Chinese delegates hold their position to be worse than under Japanese treaties, which specifically pledge the return to Kiao-Chau. The Chinese contention raises a question as to the actual status of many verbal agreements in the conferences of the council of three, which are not known to be definitely in the written proceedings.

LOAN SUBSCRIPTIONS POUR INTO BANKS

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The success of the last popular American war loan was in the balance today. Up to a late hour tonight banks will accept subscriptions and then they will take 10 days to report their sales. The degree of success will not be known definitely until some time after May 20, when each bank is required to render an accounting with the federal reserve bank of the district.

The nation started its final day's drive with $3,314,870,000 already pledged. At an early hour telegrams began to reach national lead headquarters in the treasury telling of new millions.

PUT END TO BOLSHEVISM

Give Everybody a Job; Reclaim Idle Lands and Ban Undesirables, Says Hanson

BY OLE HANSON.

The "Fighting Mayor" of Seattle, Whose Prompt Action Stopped the Northwestern Bolshevik Revolution. The next three years will put to test the very existence of all present governments.

The attacks now being made, the changes now taking place, are not only changes in governmental form, but mass attacks against civilization. If Kerensky had started cemeteries instead of conferences—if in his veins had run the red blood of a Roosevelt—Russia today would be a free republic. When Lenin and Trotsky rose, he compromised and pleaded. Orderly government soon was at an end; theft and assassinations took its place. Now Bolshevism has invaded other countries, and here we find propaganda carefully spread, teaching abolition of private property, overthrow of law and order, and government by those who talk the loudest, promise the most and do the least.

What shall we do? Where does our duty lie?

Public works! Idleness has become a national crime.

Government and state must do everything possible in the way of public work and development. Cities should employ labor at once to construct their necessary development.

Employers of labor must also do their share in their private capacities to aid our country in this great crisis. As they, they must do more than their share. They must go more than halfway in meeting the demands of labor; they must be more than fair.

At the close of the Civil war vast areas of vacant land opened to development absorbed large portions of the soldiers. Many western states owe to this influx their development and their greatness.

At present we have 100,000,000 (four hundred million) acres of land in this country which should be opened to settlement.

The drift to the city must be stopped.

Some of this land needs irrigating, some needs diking.

Land held by railroads should be put on the market at the lowest price possible.

The Lane land law or a similar act should be passed at once.

No land speculator should profit by our necessities. The government should condemn the landhog's holdings wherever necessary. In my state we are submitting an amendment at the next election, giving the state this right.

Soldiers and sailors of course must have the preference right to purchase these lands.

Much is being said about foreign lands. The time has come when much must be said and done in relation to our home lands.

Let us read honest; let us rebuild a greater structure.

We should not allow immigrants to enter who will become dangerous to the public safety. All men here should learn English or go back home.

The worker is entitled to good food, decent clothing, a comfortable home, and education for his children. By fair, square dealing between the employer and the workman, Bolshevism is destroyed.

Every child turned into the world unsuited to battle for his livelihood is a menace to free government.

The empty stomach has no conscience. The first war-cry in the world was "we must eat."

BOATING AND FISHING ON GREAT PONDS

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 10.—Boating and fishing will be allowed in every great pond in the commonwealth, except those from which water is taken directly into distributing pipes, if the legislature approves a bill which is to be offered next Tuesday as a substitute for a measure recommended by the committee on public health and water supply.

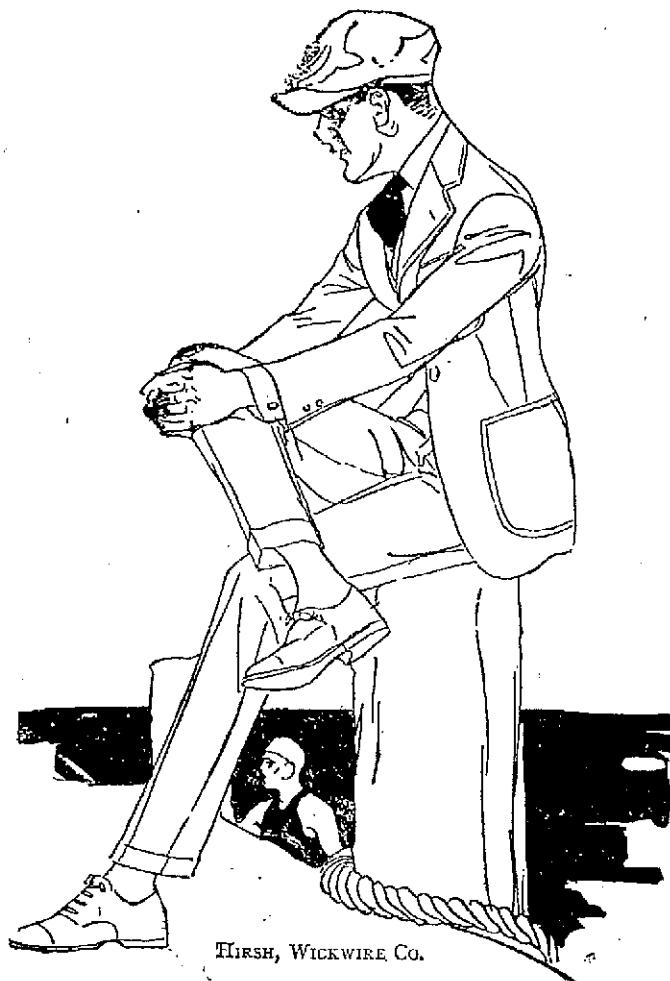

At present boating and fishing in all such ponds is subject to regulation by local authorities and there has been much complaint that the rules and regulations adopted have been needlessly severe and in most cases completely prohibitory.

Several proposed changes were petitioned for this year, all of which were considered by the joint committee, and a measure was reported which is not satisfactory to the petitioners. Consequently they will make an effort next Tuesday, under the leadership of Representatives Naphen of Natick and Webster of Buxton, to substitute the following bill:

"It shall be lawful for any person to enter or go in any boat or canoe or to fish therefrom or through the ice in, or upon the water of any great pond in this commonwealth used as a source of water supply, and the water of which is not drawn directly into the distributing service pipes of any

EARNINGS BELOW COST OF LIVING

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 10.—Because it believes that girls employed in candy factories throughout the state are not paid a living wage, the minimum wage commission has requested a special board, comprised of representatives of the employers, the employees and the public, to inquire into such water supply may deem reasonable and just."

HOYT, the subject and recommend what it believes would be adequate compensation for the employees. It purposes then to have the increases put into effect.

"An investigation by the commission into the earnings of more than a thousand girls revealed the fact that three-quarters of them were making less than $9 a week. The last inquiry made by the commission into the cost of living as it affects the individual female worker made in the autumn of last year, showed that a weekly wage of $12.50 is needed to furnish the worker with the necessities of life. This estimate was made in the case of the office cleaners' board.

"Less than one-tenth of the workers in the different candy manufacturers of the state are earning $12 a week or over," a statement of the commission says. "Three-fifths of the women and girls earn less than $9, nearly one-half under $5 and approximately one-third under $7 a week."

"More than half of the women receiving less than $9 a week are 18 years of age or over," the commission states. The majority of 500 workers who were queried as to their wages and working conditions reported that they had been at least two or three years in the occupation. Nearly one-half of the number had worked in the candy factories for five years or more.

"The present investigation shows that there has been a considerable advance in wage rates and earnings since 1913, when the last inquiry into the candy industry was made," the commission's statement concludes. "The average advances, however, have not equalled the increase in the cost of living during the same period. No general increase in real wages is shown. In the case of a considerable number of the women, average earnings remain at a level below the present cost of living."

RECEPTION TO MR. AND MRS. JOHNSON

A reception was given to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson of 5 Fernald street in Highland hall last evening, and the event also served as a "welcome home" party to Mr. Johnson, who has recently been discharged from the naval service. The couple were married some months ago in this city.

Following an enjoyable repast, at which 30 invited guests were seated at the festive board, a pleasing entertainment was given which included vocal and musical selections by Miss Lillian Drury, Mrs. Johnson, Miss Julia Kennedy, Miss Aura Caton and Charles Cottrell. General dancing was afterwards enjoyed until the midnight hour struck.

Mrs. Johnson was attended by Mr. and Mrs. George Foss and the ushers were Miss Aura Caton, Miss Rita Bosca and Miss Ethel Sabourin. She received many beautiful presents, including a set of dishes, pieces of cut glass, handsome pictures and other articles.

GENOPOULOS WAS DESPONDENT
Demetrios Vgenopoulos, aged 23 years, committed suicide late yesterday afternoon by slitting his throat with a razor at his home, 6 rear of 437 Market street. Despondency over illness is believed to have been the cause of his rash act. The body was found in a pool of blood on the floor of his room by his sister shortly after 6 o'clock with a blood stained razor close by. The body after being viewed by Medical Examiner T. F. Smith, was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers C. H. Molloy & Sons.

REACHING THE NEWLYWEDS

Well, there is a lot of young folks getting married this spring. We heard the other day of some business houses who kept tabs on newspaper accounts of engagements and weddings and employed a tactful, well-mannered salesman, to call on the newlyweds and try to sell them some of the hundreds of articles invariably needed when a couple go house-keeping. No couple ever received wedding presents enough to furnish their home completely, you know. If you hear that, they did, don't believe it.

But we must not forget. While the salesman may be hunting up the newlyweds, the newlyweds are hunting up the house furnishing ads in the evening paper. They do this because it's a family habit and they do it by instinct. This is an important fact you ought not to forget. Don't let the newlyweds' trade get by you just because they didn't see your ad. If you do, it's your fault. Remember, "nothing is too good for the newlyweds." They've been saving up just to spend it for furnishing the home. Early in life, Lowell's newlyweds got the "Sun habit." You will have a fair chance at their trade if your ad is in

THE LAST CALL

This is the last day of the drive, the day which will show whether the American people appreciate the achievement of their army and navy in the world war.

It is the day also on which the test comes to Lowell. Will we, as a community, maintain our record for patriotism, so gloriously upheld in the past?

We surmise that when the clock strikes the last hour of the drive, Lowell will have given another proof of her patriotism, her loyalty and her high appreciation of the victory won in the world war, largely if not entirely, through our entrance to the conflict. Had that victory been lost and had Germany won, what a reckoning there would be, not only in the vanquished nations of Europe, but also in this country!

Let every good citizen thank Providence for the victory that has saved humanity from the state of servitude and humiliation that would have followed a Teutonic victory.

We have won the fight and we are now making the world safe for democracy. Let every man who has the wherewithal come forward and help to finish the job by winding up this Victory loan so that Lowell will go over the top in a final rush of enthusiastic patriotism.

THE NEW CONGRESS

The special session of congress called for May 10, by President Wilson, will undoubtedly be a very busy one during the summer. There are five appropriation bills awaiting action that were purposely defeated by the republican filibuster at the close of the last session. The result has been injurious in some measure to the business of the country, having retarded especially the work of reconstruction.

Among the things that the new congress will have to consider will be the enactment of laws for getting the new merchant marine into active business in the channels of trade. Perhaps the most important business to come before the body is that of providing a suitable policy for the management and control of the railroads of the country.

Under government ownership there has been a deficit of $418,000,000, but in addition to this there has been a great deal of dissatisfaction throughout the country as a result of the manner in which the government has conducted the business of the railroads.

The increase of freight and passenger rates, and the decision to grant practically every increase of wages demanded by the brotherhoods.

The roads can never go back to the old system of management under private operation, however.

They now constitute one system and can never again, without serious detriment to the nation, be resolved into their component parts.

Nor can the roads be subjected to the control of 48 states and the Inter States Commerce commission, being thus harassed by conflicting laws and practices which prevent free action and detract from the success of the organizations.

There must be a system of federal control and an arrangement under which the roads will be relieved of the continual harassment by the various states which enact laws affecting the railroads as often as they see fit and sometimes without any justification.

Before going to Europe, President Wilson frankly admitted that he had not formulated any fixed plan for returning the railroads to private management, but that some new form of control would be nec-

Dressed in fantastic skin-tights of every color in patchwork, they skipped about the stage with lath swords. People of the twelfth century thought them funny. Custard pies and slapsticks came later. The sense of humor changes.

The first American-written play, "The Prince of Parthia," was put on at the Southwark theatre, Philadelphia, in 1767. It lasted one night. Thomas Godfrey, the author, went back to making watches and writing spring poems.

Circuses were on their feet in the '30s.

Blackface minstrelsy started at the old Federal theatre, Boston, in 1799, when a comedian named Young sang "The Gay Negro Boy" in character. The first real minstrel show, according to the memoirs of Billy Birrell, was staged in 1842; one of its cast was Dan Emmett who wrote "Dixie." Grandpa, do you remember Dumbeldon's Serenaders, Dick Pelham, Buckley's Virginia minstrels, "Daddy" Rice who sang "Jim Crow," or Birch, Wambold & Baucus?

Great characters in the show business are few.

Austin Corbin, banker from Davenport, Iowa, started Coney Island in 1873.

B. F. Keith changed old-time variety into modern vaudeville. In 1883, he had only one dime museum act—"Baby Alive," who weighed one pound and a half when three months old. Then he chased out a piano dealer who had quarters upstairs, put in 123 seats—and the road was paved for Eva Taughay, Houdini and the stars who feed the "Follies."

The dime museum was a bright spot in our boyhood. The fat lady, tattooed man, living skeleton, Bozo, he eats 'em alive, and Zip the Whatisit. We can thank Barnum, Nature's sense of humor and Tody Hamilton, the press agent who originated the big screaming circus poster.

Kiralfy is gone. No epochal innovation has come into the show world since his invention of spectacular productions, except the movies. The world awaits the future Kiralfy with a new thrill. Will it come in the perfection of an invention by which the people in the movies will be able to speak audibly to their audiences from the cauris? That is not in Kiralfy's line, but it is likely to be the next step forward in the movie art.

SOLDIERS' PREFERENCE

The legislature seems determined to give the soldiers a preference in civil service appointments, regardless of Governor Coolidge's objections. As the measure applies only to the time from the passage of the act till the first of July, 1920, there is little danger that as Governor Coolidge apprehends, unqualified men may get into places in which their lack of technical knowledge would work serious injury to the public. There is at present a serious lack of employment which alone would justify extraordinary steps to give the soldiers a preference.

Do Lowell people pay their bills? There never was a more honorable or a more just debt than the obligation for each of us to pay his share in the war just closed. One pays it by subscribing for a Victory bond. Do Lowell people pay their bills? We shall see. You'd buy stock in Standard Oil, wouldn't you? Well, Victory bonds in the United States government, for a successful investment, begin where Standard Oil leaves off.

We must hand it to those two sky boats of the United States navy. In successfully making Halifax after their 8 hour jaunt from Rockaway, N. Y., they have progressed farther towards their journey to England, than have Hawker and Raynham, marking time at St. John's.

When we read that "the Americans of German extraction living in Greater New York have subscribed, so far, $29,000,000 for Victory bonds," we are forced to admit that there is little of the modern German left in them. They are 100 per cent American.

Many centuries since Sophocles of the Grecian peninsula put the drama on its feet. Actors in England formerly were classed legally as vagabonds and not permitted to own property. Even as late as 1612, four years before Shakespeare died, the village fathers of Stratford, his home town, forbade plays on the ground that they were wicked. Prejudices die hard. The theatrical business still is not as respectable as cornering the stock market or employing child labor.

Eight hundred years ago harlequins entertained the crowds. They were the world's first professional clowns—the Charlie Chaplins, Toots, Humpy Dumplings of their day.

Now that we have made the world safe for democracy, we must get busy and make it entirely unsafe for assassins.

There are several reasons why Senator Lodge favors the Italian clowns—the Charlie Chaplins, Toots, Humpy Dumplings of their day.

At a "husbands' night" of a women's club in New York city a feature of the entertainment was the answering by the men, on slips-of-paper, of the question, "Why should a woman marry?" and by the women of the question, "Why should a man marry?" A prize was offered for the best an-

With Terrible Stomach Trouble Until She Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES".

MRS. F. S. STOLZ

8807 Sacro Ave., Sacramento, Cal.

"I had Stomach Trouble for 10 years, which became so bad that I got Stomach Cramps two or three times a week."

After years of terrible torture, I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' or Fruit Liver Tablets, and sent for a trial box and wrote that it was the last remedy I would use—if 'Fruit-a-tives' did not help me, I would die.

After taking the trial box, I felt better, so kept on taking 'Fruit-a-tives' for nearly a year, and am thankful to say 'Fruit-a-tives' saved my life.

It also saved a friend from an operation for Stomach Trouble, after he had given up all hope of getting well".

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

One of the Lowell members of Battery F told a most interesting story to illustrate the spirit of co-operation among the officers and members of Lowell's own artillery unit at the reception tendered the battery Thursday evening by John P. Hall in Centralville. It seems that after the armistice was signed a party of the battery boys came upon a French cellar in which a considerable amount of first quality French wine was stored. The battery boys had an idea that the place had been deserted and therefore made free with the vintage. Shortly afterward French revenue officials made tour of inspection in that vicinity, found that the wine was gone and immediately sought out the cause of the drought. Eventually suspicion centered upon the artillerymen and their commander was obliged to pay $500 for the loss. Nothing more was said until the day the battery was discharged at Camp Devens and then each member chipped in $5 to restore the "boozey" money to their commander.

Under the new scheme of doing things in relation to running a movie theatre, most managers have adopted a plan whereby the girl in the ticket-booth who generally answers the telephone has a schedule in front of her which tells exactly at what time each feature picture starts. This is done at many places in Lowell. Movie managers tell us it is astonishing how many telephone queries they receive from movie fans asking when a certain feature will start. But a reader has complained that in some places the girl answering the phone misinforms. Of course it would not be done intentionally. There are some fans who are willing to pay the admission demanded for the full program, just for the sake of going in and seeing their favorite star in some feature they think would be good. That is all of the program they want to see and after the feature is over they skip out and take up their business again. It can thus be seen how important it is that the girl at the theatre give the right information.

"Faith," cried the wife, "it's whole and part. And the steadfast beat of a husband-heart."

"The fire of youth," said the ancient sage. "The love of life and the mind of age."

"The camel," cried Power, "and the rest of it: Dollar cut dollar and will bite wit."

But the mother cried, "Whatever the cost—

The laugh of my little one, loved and lost."

swer to each of these questions. The best man's answer was adjudged to be this: "Because in that way a woman wins perfection"—a kind of double-edged compliment to each sex.

The woman's prize went to this answer: "I know no reason why a man should marry"—a bit of subtle feminine self-accusation that seemed so unusual in these days that it "hit" the awarding committee.

The shortest answer given to the question, "Why should a woman marry?" was, "Alimony." The longest was this, "Because character, not happiness, is the object of life; and in sacrificing her happiness by marriage a woman confers character on a man and wins it in greater measure for herself."

A widely known artist wrote the question, "Why should a man marry?" and opposite it simply drew a picture of a pretty girl. Another answer to the same question was, "To save that extra thousand on his income tax."—Outlook Magazine.

Word About Milk Bottles

It used to be the case when folks were hard up for something to wonder about, to pick on the old problem of "what becomes of all the pins?" Now they've got a new one to wonder over: What becomes of all the milk bottles?

Government statistics show that the average milk bottle only visits the back door 17 times before its general health breaks down. Only 17 clanks in a milk bottle and it's done for. Either lost, strayed or broken. Hundreds of milk bottles are aimed at felina prima donnas every night. Thousands of 'em are doing duty as receptacles for oil, etc., in the home garages, and as paint cans in the household. Millions of 'em have fatal results caroming down back stairs and staggering off window sills. Anyhow, after July 1, there'll be a surplus of glass to make up for the amount lost in milk bottles.

THE CASE OF IRELAND

United Irish League For Self-

Determination — Ireland

Basely Betrayed

The following statement of Ireland's case and counsel to Ireland's friends has been given out by the old United Irish league which joins the new movement:

At a recent meeting of the remnant of the old United Irish league a resolution was adopted declaring that parliamentary agitation for the rights of Ireland was dead, having been basely betrayed by the British government first by former Premier Asquith and later by the present premier who has followed in the footsteps of his predecessor.

It was shown that the Irish national party had been betrayed in the hour of victory after Ireland had exhausted all peaceful methods and proved her sincerity by giving many of her bravest men, such as William Redmond, Thomas Kettle and thousands of others who lost their lives in fighting England's battles. In addition 65 per cent. of her man power volunteered for service during the war.

The home rule act was placed on the statute book in 1914, but Sir Edward Carson and a few British generals objected and promptly Mr. Asquith said "It is unthinkable to coerce Ulster."

Thus Carson is given a veto power upon the rights of the Irish nation and Carson is but a tool of the British aristocracy whose veto power had been taken away in 1911.

Lloyd George said he would give home rule to Ireland if the people would agree upon what they wanted, and he mocked the people by calling a national convention to draft a constitution for Ireland, knowing full well that the Carsonites would agree to no form of home rule that would not maintain their ascendancy.

The convention was a failure as might be expected, although the nationalist majority reported the fundamental principles of a measure of home rule which the government ignored.

This was the last straw that crushed

the hopes of the nationalists at home and abroad and drove them into the camp of the Sinn Fein party.

The last election in Ireland wiped out the national party and elected Sinn Feiners to more than three-fourths of the seats in parliament and every man of them is a rebel against British rule and British authority in Ireland. They stand for the right of self determination for Ireland, a right that under the new order of things the world over is to be accorded to many small nations formerly held in bondage by powerful governments.

Under these conditions what are the former advocates of home rule to do whether in this country or elsewhere. Simply what they have always done. Find what policy the Irish people at home have adopted for the regeneration of their country and stand by them in support of that by every means possible. That is the only policy by which anything can be accomplished.

What can Ireland do?

She can rebel as in 1916 but the former members of the United Irish League believe that policy would be ruinous and would give England the pretext she wants for slaughtering the people and putting the country under severe coercive measures and martial law.

Other policies that may be adopted were suggested by the recent meeting of the United Irish League as follows:

First, passive resistance to British authority in Ireland.

Second, a union of the entire Irish race outside Ireland in opposition to British interests economic and otherwise and to inaugurate movements for the independence of the other British Colonies including Canada, Australia, New Zealand and India.

The application of such methods might convince England that after all it would be better to follow Gladstone's example and listen to the voice of the people rather than the howl of the Ulster faction.

Since Gladstone's day the democracy of England has been anxious to see justice done to Ireland; but the aristocracy represented in the house of lords and subsequently by Sir Edward Carson prevented a settlement and still holds Ireland subject to the will of a minority less than one-fourth of the entire people. In conclusion it is the hope of the United Irish League that the former members will support the new movement as well as they supported the old for the last 30 years.

FIRE DESTROYS MILL

Shoddy Plant a Total Loss and Nearby Dwelling Houses Also Damaged

The shoddy mill of Hamilton &amp; Hersey, Inc., Rockingham street, Wissington, was totally destroyed by fire between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and sparks from the burning building set fire in six dwelling houses nearby and seriously damaged one of them, the house occupied by Rev. John Singleton, pastor of the Lawrence Street P.M. church, and Arthur Dean. The loss at the shoddy mill is estimated at approximately $17,000 and on the house, about $1800. The damage to the other houses was confined principally to exterior searching, although a few roof shingles were torn off by the firemen in one or two instances as the sparks caused a smoldering.

No cause of the fire has been determined. With Chief Saunders was F. G. Hale of the state police, in charge of fire investigation, but he hesitated to express an opinion, but believed that the blaze might have started from the oil cause of spontaneous combustion. The building was of wood construction, owned by John W. Robinson of Clark road and built some 30 years ago. For a time it was used as a shoe shop. It was good fire material and the wool rugs used in the shoddy business caused the blaze to spread quickly.

The fire was discovered by T. M. Hamilton and C. T. Hersey, proprietors of the plant, and when Hersey went into the building to investigate, heavy smoke and flames drove him back and he was compelled to jump through a window to the ground. A telephone alarm was first sent in by Richard Sykes, who owns three houses directly opposite the mill and almost simultaneously a bell alarm was sounded from box 821 at Lawrence and Morton streets. Shortly after another alarm was sent in from box 823 which had the effect of calling second alarm apparatus.

The fire had swept pretty much through the mill by the time the firemen arrived and although a dozen streams of water were immediately turned on it, the fire practically burned itself out. Meanwhile, neighbors and members of the Lowell high school baseball team, who hurried over to the fire from Spalding park, removed the furniture from the two-family house occupied by Rev. Mr. Singleton and Mr. Dean. The firemen prevented the destruction of this house, but the interior was badly damaged by water.

Fred C. Church carried the insurance on the shoddy mill and contents and also carried part of the insurance on the houses owned by Mr. Sykes and Mr. Pringle.

Giant American Seaplanes Fly From Halifax to Trepassey For "Big Hop" Overseas

NC-1 AND NC-4 ON SECOND LEG

Took to Air at Halifax at 9 O'Clock This Morning—
NC-3 Forced To Return

Propeller Repaired and Plane Started For Second Time at 12:35

HALIFAX, N. S., May 10.—Two of the American hydroaeroplanes assigned to the transatlantic flight were en route today to Trepassey, N. F., starting point of the projected cruise to Portugal via the Azores, and thence to Plymouth, Eng.

With the NC-1 commanded by Lieut. Commander P. N. L. Bellinger, more than 200 miles on his way, Commander John H. Towers, chief of the expedition, took to the air for the second time at 12:35 p.m., after he had been forced by propeller trouble on the NC-3 to return to the base here when he had flown 50 miles on the original journey begun this morning.

The disablement of the NC-3, following the smashing of a propeller during the surface cruise in the harbor before the first start, was quickly remedied by installation of new apparatus from the stores of the mine layer Baltimore, stationed here as a flight tender.

Commander Towers said that he had lost touch with the NC-1, last reported speeding across the open sea from the eastern tip of Nova Scotia to Newfoundland, when it was 150 miles out of this port.

With the ideal weather conditions of the morning still prevailing, Commander Towers hoped to reach Trepassey before nightfall.

Start at 8:44.

HALIFAX, N. S., May 10.—Two of the three giant American naval hydroaeroplanes commissioned to attempt a transatlantic flight—the NC-1 and the NC-3—took the air today on the second leg of their cruise from Rockaway Beach, N. Y., to Trepassey, N. F., where they are expected to start next week for Portugal, with a stop at the Azores.

The NC-1, in command of Lieut. Commander P. N. L. Bellinger set out at 8:44 a. m., followed at 9:07 by the NC-3, carrying Commander John H. Towers, chief of the expedition.

The start was made under an almost cloudless sky, with a gentle northerly wind.

PREPARE FOR EVENTUALITY

Big Four Discusses Action To Be Taken if Germany Refuses To Sign

German Delegates Preparing Counter Proposals—Seek New Peace Negotiations

PARIS, May 10.—It is understood that among the subjects discussed by the Council of Four at its meeting today was the eventuality of Germany refusing to sign the peace treaty and what steps should be taken in that event.

It is said that no intimation that Germany intended taking such a course, has reached the allies, but they are taking nothing for granted, and the discussion of the subject by the representatives of the powers today was by way of preparation for such an eventuality, however remote.

The German cabinet council has decided upon the wording of a note that Germany will present without delay to the allies, according to a Swiss despatch from Zurich.

WILSON STILL FIRM ON FIUME

Has Not Deviated in the Slightest From His Original Stand

German Delegates Preparing Counter Proposals—Seek New Peace Negotiations

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Reports from Paris that President Wilson had committed himself to a proposal to settle the Fiume dispute by giving that port to Italy after 1923, were said in despatches to the White House today to be "absolute fiction."

It appeared from today's advice that the president had not deviated in the slightest from his original stand in opposition to Italy's claim to Fiume.

Other despatches from Paris said the president would address congress and "discuss the whole subject matter of the Paris negotiations immediately after his return to the United States. It is understood that he is being urged by his advisers to make a speaking tour over the country after he addressed congress."

ENTERS VICTORY HARBOR

NEW YORK, May 10.—Signifying that the American people had oversubscribed the fifth great fund, the Victory Liberty loan, for financing the nation's participation in the triumphant war against Germany, the United States destroyer Calhoun entered this port, "Victory harbor," at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

New York City Over Top
NEW YORK, May 10.—New York city went over the top today in the Victory loan campaign. Its quota of $1,000,561,500 was exceeded by more than $1,580,000 at 10 a. m.

The New York reserve district at 10 a. m. was within $5,000,000 of its quota of $1,350,000,000.

LOWELL GOES OVER THE TOP

Victory Loan Quota For North Middlesex District Heavily Over-Subscribed

City Banks Sell $390,000 Worth of Bonds This Morning, in Final Drive

LOWELL and the North Middlesex Victory loan district came through with all colors flying today. The quota has not only been reached but a generous over-subscription is a certainty.

With the Union National bank total approximated at $175,000 for today's afternoon report a total for today of $370,000, which places the city's net total in the neighborhood of $5,395,000, or about $120,000 over the quota of $5,275,000. The towns in the district also are over, but for a few days, will not be known for a few days. Some of the banks will remain open this evening and the above amounts will be augmented considerably.

TO TURNED HOSE ON MEN IN GUARD HOUSE

WASHINGTON, May 10.—An official report by officers of the Inspector General's department, who investigated complaints that prisoners at Fort Leavenworth had been shut in an unsanitary cell and drenched with water from a fire hose, was made public today by the war department. It is said that Capt. Charles W. Jones of the 49th Infantry, who had charge of the part of the guard house in which the men were held, ordered the hose turned on them because of their refusal to obey when ordered to keep quiet so as not to disturb other prisoners.

The report added that "while several prisoners caught cold no other injury or sickness resulted."

Most of the prisoners in the cell were conscientious objectors who had been locked up for refusal to work.

Parade With 5000 Participants Attracts Spectators

From All Over City—Veterans of Three Wars in Line of March—Banquet and Band Concert This Evening—Centralville in Holiday Attire

Centralville was in her glory today when she cast aside her everyday business-like garb and donned the brilliant colors of the Stars and Stripes to welcome home her several thousand sons from battlefield, camp and warship and the scenes of strife and gallant achievement.

A glorious welcome did the home-comers receive and heartily appreciated were they of their triumphal reception. Lowering clouds failed to lessen by one iota the splendor of the affair or the happiness of those being honored.

All forenoon the over-river section of the city was busy with eleventh-hour preparations for the event which was destined to become epochal in the annals of Centralville and by noon Chief Marshal William H. Noonan reported that the last banner had been hung out and the last conference held to perfect the details of the celebration.

It was announced at noon that a delegation of Civil war veterans had asked to participate in the parade and they were quickly granted permission and assigned a place of honor in the first division immediately behind the Spanish War Veterans. Thus, the veterans of three great wars were represented in the parade.

The setting for the parade was most fitting and beautiful. From Central bridge for nearly a quarter of a mile, Bridge street was aflame with the national colors and on the intersecting streets through which the parade wound its brilliant way there were few buildings without their patriotic garbs carried American flags.

And the spectators themselves who came not only from Centralville but from all parts of the city and its suburbs gave expressive evidence of their delight at the homecoming of Centralville's fighters by carrying small American flags. In addition, every marcher in the parade with commendably few exceptions also carried the national colors.

As early as 2 o'clock the paraders began forming in the sections assigned them. It seemed that every street opening out into Bridge street was pouring forth its quota of uniformed or gaily clad marchers. Fifth street was a mass of uniforms when the first division, including the Civil war and Spanish war veterans, the Boy Scouts, various uniformed French societies, the Polish Falcons and the Polish Social club began assembling for the order to start.

The stock exchanges at Bremen, Hanover, Frankfurt have joined those at Hamburg and Berlin in suspending operations on account of the tension in the political situation.

PRIV. RAYMOND DOWD RETURNS HOME

Private Raymond Dowd of the Military Police of the 26th Division, who was in a hospital in France when the other members of his division embarked for the United States has arrived home. He reached New York a week ago and landed at Camp Devens yesterday, where he expects to be discharged in a few days. The young soldier came to Lowell today and dropped in to see his former co-workers in the Sun composing room. He is in the picture of health and reports that he is now in the "pink of condition."

Private Dowd left the Sun about two years ago to enlist in Company C of the Old Sixth Regiment. After a short stay at Framingham and later Camp Devens, he went to Westfield, where he became a member of the Y. M. C. A. police force. He then went overseas where he took part in all the engagements which made the Yankee Division famous.

With many former students present to join in the happy affair the senior class of the high school held its annual social and informal party last evening in high school hall. Without exception this annual event is anticipated like no other and the sociability of last night's party easily ranks it with those of other years. The hall was most attractively decorated with pink and white bunting and American flags, while the severe outline of the stage was obliterated by palms and other green plants. Dancing was enjoyed from 8 o'clock until 11:30, music being furnished by Savage's Jazzy orchestra.

The officers of the senior class were in charge of the social, as follows: President, Patrick McNamee; first vice president, Ernest Moller; second vice president, Marion Dowd; secretary, Evelyn Craven and treasurer, Glenn Marshall. Headmaster Herbert D. Bixby was present, and the following members of the faculty served as matrons: Miss Mary C. Joyce, Miss Mille Steverance, Miss Ruth Eaton, Miss Ruth Sawyer, Miss Adele Baker, Miss Alice Bacheller and Miss Loretta A. McNameon. Refreshments were served during an intermission by Caterer Sharf.

not be available before the first of the week. It is safe to say the huge quota of $7,000,000, of which Lowell bore the lion's share, with her quota of $5,275,000, will be over-subscribed by thousands of dollars. And this gigantic task, entered upon in the face of peace, with the element of patriotism cut to half its previous worth as an incentive of purchasing, has been accomplished without falling back on the national banks for subscriptions to carry the loan through. This is what the federal government wanted, as it deplored the emergency which would cause the national banks to cripple their reservoirs of ready money by tying up themselves with bonds.

As early as 10 o'clock this forenoon it was evident that the district was "going over," for even at that early hour the Union National bank had subscriptions on hand amounting to $10,000, included in which were: Talbot mills, Billerica, $25,000; Boot mills, $50,000, and more than 200 Boot employees, $20,000. The Appleton National bank did about $65,000 worth of bond business in the first banking hour, and the Wamesit National reported a subscription of $10,000 from Reuben Dunsford, to be credited to Chelmsford. The Old Lowell bank reported heavy individual buying and had a rough total of $18,000 at 10:30 o'clock.

From the towns came glad tidings of over-subscriptions, and all but two of the six towns reported as "under" yesterday came up with a rush this morning. Shirley, $7000 behind last night, exceeded her quota of $37,000 by $15,000 this forenoon, the total there now standing at approximately $55,000. North Reading telephoned to loan headquarters that the town did not need any help from "Mother" Reading, as its quota of $15,000 had been exceeded. Action, with a total of $17,000, against a quota of $56,000 yesterday, this morning dispelled all the little glooms in the village and started in with an over-subscription. It was fine stuff and all helped to put the district in the honor class she has so conspicuously graced in the four previous loan campaigns.

Of the 20 towns in the district, Dracut and Ayer alone have failed to reach their quotas, but enough over-subscription is in to more than carry these communities through. Both of these towns made big gains today, but failed a little in reaching their goals.

Several big subscriptions came to light yesterday afternoon, including: Middlesex Co., $20,000 additional; U. S. Bunting Co. employees, $16,000; sterling mill employees, $3030; Belvidere Woolen Co. employees, $1750; Hon. Charles H. Allen, $20,000; Thompson Hardware Co., $2000; E. W. Hoyt Co., $2000; C. I. Hood Co. employees, $1500; and Lowell Electric Light Co. employees, $3750. From Boston came $20,000 from the Saco-Lowell Co., and $70,000, William A. Carroll. The Lowell Aerial of Eagles has purchased $6000 worth of bonds, taking $1000 in each of six savings banks.

Cluskey was busy with the participants of the second division, which might be termed the church delegation of the parade. It included members of the Holy Name society of St. Michael's church, men of the Fifth Street Baptist church, St. Louis' church, Centraville Methodist church, the French Baptist church, the French Foresters of America and the I.O.O.F.

LATEST U. S. IN WAR FOR LIBERTY

Wilson Says Country Ready To Fight Whenevver Cause of Liberty Is Imperilled

Will Cast Lot in Common With Lot of Those Whose Liberty Is Threatened

PARIS, May 10.—President Wilson, speaking at the session today of the Academy of Moral and Political Sciences, at which he was presented a medal, said that the United States came into the war in the cause of liberty.

"Whenever we see the cause of liberty imperilled," he added, "we are ready to cast our lot in common with the lot of those whose liberty is threatened. That is the spirit of the people of the United States."

BELA KUN SEEKS AMERICANS' AID

VIENNA, Wednesday, May 7.—(By Associated Press) Bela Kun, the leader of the Hungarian soviet, has visited Prof. Philip Brown, American representative in Hungary, and asked if the Americans would guarantee the safety of himself, his wife and child. The soviet government at Budapest is panic stricken.

WILSON'S PROMISE TO AID FRANCE

PARIS, Friday, May 9.—(By the Associated Press) It is stated in authoritative quarters that President Wilson's submission of the engagement for the defense of France by America will be submitted to the United States senate merely by the transmission of his letter to Premier Clemenceau agreeing to submit the subject to the senate and will not embrace a treaty carrying out the engagement. No treaty has as yet been drafted and such action will await the decision of the senate for or against the proposal.

EXPECT GERMAN
ANSWER IN WEEK

PARIS, May 10.—(By the Associated Press) President Wilson expressed the belief today that nothing would be heard from the German plenipotentiaries for about a week. Neither he nor any other member of the American delegation has heard anything regarding the published report that the Germans were preparing to depart from Versailles.

The German delegation worked nearly the whole night in preparing counter propositions, the clicking of typewriters in their offices ceasing at 1 o'clock this morning. The German delegates are at perfect liberty to return to Berlin and consult their government, if they desire to do so, it is reported in conference circles. Such a move, if made, would not mean the breaking off of negotiations. The Germans, it is said, enjoy entire freedom of movement and diplomatic immunity.

PRES. WILSON MAY VISIT GENEVA

PARIS, May 10.—(By the Associated Press) A suggestion has been made in high quarters that President Wilson may visit Geneva for the purpose of inspecting the seal of the League of Nations.

PRES. WILSON DISCUSSES INTERNATIONAL LAW

PARIS, Friday, May 8.—In a brief speech at a dinner tonight, President Wilson discussed the future role of international law.

"One of the things that has disturbed me in recent months," he said, "is the unqualified hope men have entertained everywhere of immediate emancipation from the things that have hampered and oppressed them. You cannot, in human experience, rush into the light. You have to go through twilight into the broadening day before noon comes and the full sun is on the landscape. We must see to it that those who hope are not disappointed by showing them the processes by which the hope must be realized—the processes of law, the processes of slow disentanglement from the many things that have bound us in the past."

"If we can now give to international law the kind of vitality it can have only if it is the real expression of our moral judgment, we shall have completed in some sense the work which this war was intended to emphasize."

"In a sense the old international law is played out. The future of mankind depended more upon the relations of nations to one another than upon the separate and selfish development of the national systems law."

LOWELL'S DEATH RATE

There was a slight decline in Lowell's death rate this week. There were 31 deaths recorded in comparison with 33 and 10 for the two previous weeks. Infectious diseases caused four deaths, pneumonia two, diphtheria two, tuberculosis two, and influenza one.

Infectious diseases reported included: Diphtheria, 10; scarlet fever, 5; measles 12, and tuberculosis 3.

GENERAL EDWARDS HERE

Commander-in-Chief of Y. D. Makes Short Stop on Way to New Hampshire.

Gen. Clarence N. Edwards, commander-in-chief of the Yankee Division, and beloved by every New Englander, spent more than an hour in Lowell early this afternoon, stopping here for luncheon at the Harrison hotel, while on a week-end trip to Peterboro, N. H. With the general were Mrs. Edwards and Lieutenant Mrs. W. S. Simpkins, and they were joined at dinner by Lieutenant Col. Charles A. Stevens of this city, adjutant general of the 26th Division. Major Perry D. Thompson hurried to the hotel to greet Gen. Edwards just before he left at 2:15 o'clock and invited him to remain in Lowell for the afternoon to witness the parade in Centralville, but although the general expressed a hearty desire to do so, he said that his present plans forbade it. Several hundred people surrounded the official cars as they pulled away from the Harrison, and just before the general stepped into his machine he stopped a Yankee Division doughboy who passed, slapped him on the back and vigorously shook his hand.

The leader of the Twenty-sixth looked the picture of robust health in answer to a query, said, "I'm feeling tip-top, thank you." He certainly looked it. A number of camera men "caught" the party as they left, including one motion picture man, who took several feet of film as the general and Major Thompson shook hands.

NAVAL RESERVE FORCE ASSIGNED TO DUTY

BOSTON, May 10.—Thirty-two percent of the enlisted men of the naval reserve force and the entire enlisted personnel of the regular army are to be assigned to sea duty at once, according to orders received from Washington at the navy yard here today. It is understood that the purpose is to obtain men for additions to the transport service.

VICE SQUAD AFTER SHIMMY DANCERS

No more "shimmying" in Lowell, said Chief Welch yesterday. The lid is on and on to go. And just to make absolutely sure that this particular dance is done away with here, the chief has instructed the vice squad and its efficient leader, Lieutenant Petrie, to see that this regulation is strictly observed.

The Lieutenant and members of the squad will keep a vigilant eye on the teepie-toe entertainments from now on, and anyone who has the hard hood to shimmy and ignore the mandate of the chief in this regard will be exceedingly sorry. The vice squad has been given the proper authority to take stern measures if need be, to uphold and protect the morals of Lowell's young boys and girls, and dances of this nature will not be countenanced.

In addition, every theatre and moving picture house in the city failed to submit any bill, although thousands of soldiers and sailors were entertained free of charge on a holiday when the theatres might easily be filled to capacity with paying audiences.

REACHING THE NEWLYWEDS

Well, there is a lot of young folks getting married this spring. We heard the other day of some business houses who kept tabs on newspaper accounts of engagements and weddings and employed a tactful, well informed salesman, to call on the newlyweds and try to sell them some of the hundreds of articles invariably needed when a couple go housekeeping. No couple ever received wedding presents enough to furnish their home completely, you know. If you hear that they did, don't believe it.

But we must not forget. While the salesman may be hunting up the newlyweds, the newlyweds we find, are hunting up the house furnishing ads in the evening paper. They do this because it's a family habit and they do it by instinct. This is an important fact you ought not to forget. Don't let the newlyweds' trade get by you just because they didn't see your ad. If you do, it's your fault. Remember, "nothing is too good for the newlyweds." They've been saving up just to spend it for furnishing the home. Early in life, Lowell's newlyweds got the "Sun habit." You will have a fair chance at their trade if your ad is in.

THE LAST CALL

This is the last day of the drive, the day which will show whether the American people appreciate the achievement of their army and navy in the world war.

It is the day also on which the test comes to Lowell. Will we, as a community, maintain our record for patriotism, so gloriously upheld in the past?

We surmise that when the clock strikes the last hour of the drive, Lowell will have given another proof of her patriotism, her loyalty and her high appreciation of the victory won in the world war, largely if not entirely, through our entrance to the conflict. Had that victory been lost and had Germany won, what a reckoning there would be, not only in the vanquished nations of Europe, but also in this country!

Let every good citizen thank Providence for the victory that has saved humanity from the state of servitude and humiliation that would have followed a Teutonic victory.

We have won the fight and we are now making the world safe for democracy. Let every man who has the wherewithal come forward and help to finish the job by winding up this Victory loan so that Lowell will go over the top in a final dash of enthusiastic patriotism.

THE NEW CONGRESS

The special session of congress called for May 12, by President Wilson, will undoubtedly be a very busy one during the summer. There are five appropriation bills awaiting action that were purposely defeated by the republican filibuster at the close of the last session. The result has been injurious in some measure to the business of the country, having retarded especially the work of reconstruction.

Among the things that the new congress will have to consider will be the enactment of laws for getting the new merchant marine into active business in the channels of trade. Perhaps the most important business to come before the body is that of providing a suitable policy for the management and control of the railroads of the country. Under government ownership there has been a deficit of $418,000,000, but in addition to this there has been a great deal of dissatisfaction throughout the country as a result of the manner in which the government has conducted the business of the railroads, the increase of freight and passenger rates, and the decision to grant practically every increase of wages demanded by the brotherhoods.

The roads can never go back to the old system of management under private operation, however.

They now constitute one system and can never again, without serious detriment to the nation, be resolved into their component parts. Nor can the roads be subjected to the control of 48 states and the Inter States Commerce commission, being thus harassed by conflicting laws and practices which prevent free action and detract from the success of the organizations.

There must be a system of federal control and an arrangement under which the roads will be relieved of the continual harassment by the various states which enact laws affecting the railroads as often as they see fit and sometimes without any justification.

Before going to Europe, President Wilson frankly admitted that he had not formulated any fixed plan for returning the railroads to private management, but that some new form of control would be nec-

Dressed in fantastic skin-tights of every color in patchwork, they skipped about the stage with lath swords. People of the twelfth century thought them funny. Custard pies and slapsticks came later. The sense of humor changes.

The first American-written play, "The Prince of Parthia," was put on at the Southwark theatre, Philadelphia, in 1767. It lasted one night. Thomas Godfrey, the author, went back to making watches and writing spring poems.

Circuses were on their feet in the '30s.

Blackface minstrelsy started at the old Federal theatre, Boston, in 1799, when a comedian named Young sang "The Gay Negro Boy" in character. The first real minstrel show, according to the memoirs of Billy Birey, was staged in 1842; one of its cast was Dan Emmett who wrote "Dixie." Grandpa, do you remember Dumbeldon's Scramblers, Dick Pelham, Buckley's Virginia minstrels, "Daddy" Rice who sang "Jim Crow," or Birch, Wambole & Backus?

Great characters in the show business are few.

Austin Corbin, banker from Davenport, Iowa, started Coney Island in 1873.

R. F. Keith changed old-time variety into modern vaudeville. In 1883, he had only one dime museum net—"Baby Alice," who weighed one pound and a half when three months old. Then he chased out a piano dealer who had quarters upstairs, put in 123 seats and the road was paved for Eva Tanguay, Houdini and the stars who feed the "Follies."

The dime museum was a bright spot in our boyhood. The fat lady, tattooed man, living skeleton, Bosco, he eats 'em alive, and Zip the Whatnot. We can thank Barnum, Nature's sense of humor and Tody Hamilton, the press agent who originated the big screaming circus poster.

Kiralfy is gone. No epochal innovation has come into the show world since his invention of spectacular productions, except the movies. The world awaits the future Kiralfy with a new thrill. Will it come in the perfection of an invention by which the people in the movies will be able to speak audibly to their audiences from the canvas? That is not in Kiralfy's line, but it is likely to be the next step forward in the movie art.

SOLDIERS' PREFERENCE

The legislature seems determined to give the soldiers a preference in civil service appointments, regardless of Governor Coolidge's objections. As the measure applies only to the time from the passage of the act till the first of July, 1920, there is little danger that as Governor Coolidge apprehends, unqualified men may get into places in which their lack of technical knowledge would work serious injury to the public. There is at present a serious lack of employment which alone would justify extraordinary steps to give the soldiers a preference.

When the legion shall have formed a permanent organization in November, it will certainly be one of the most influential bodies in the country. Being made up of soldiers of all political parties, it cannot be a partisan body, but it will wield great influence with the country when it comes out for or against any particular candidate or policy.

PLAYERS AND PLAYDOM

An important character in the theatrical world was Irene Kiralfy, just buried. Older readers will recall Kiralfy's "Excelsior" which toured the country in 1884 with 350 people in the cast. It was the "Little Nemo" of dad's boyhood. We owe a lot to Kiralfy, originator of spectacular productions. Ten per cent of us amuse the other 90—census figures of actors, stage hands, office forces, film people, amusement parks, athletic fields, baseball, race tracks. Men like Kiralfy, who invent new forms of entertainment, bring real happiness into life.

America popularized the theatre-invented vaudeville, spectacles, minstrel show, circuses, movies. One reason we are not morbid and pessimistic like Europeans.

Many centuries since Sophocles of the Grecian peninsula put the drama on its feet, actors in England formerly were classed legally as vagabonds and not permitted to own property. Even as late as 1612, four years before Shakespeare died, the village fathers of Stratford, his home town, forbade plays on the ground that they were wicked. Prejudices die hard. The theatrical business still is not as respectable as cornering the stock market or employing child labor.

Now that we have made the world safe for democracy, we must get busy and make it entirely unsafe for usssassins.

There are several reasons why Senator Lodge favors the Italian clowns—the Charlie Chaplins, Toosie, Humpy Dumplings of their day. Wilson opposes them.

MRS. F. S. STOLZ

8807 Sacto Ave., Sacramento, Cal.

"I had Stomach Trouble for 10 years, which became so bad that I got Stomach Cramps two or three times a week."

After years of terrible torture, I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' or Fruit Liver Tablets, and sent for a trial box and wrote that it was the last remedy I would use—if 'Fruit-a-tives' did not help me, I would die.

After taking the trial box, I felt better, so kept on taking 'Fruit-a-tives' for nearly a year, and am thankful to say 'Fruit-a-tives' saved my life.

It also saved a friend from an operation for Stomach Trouble, after he had given up all hope of getting well".

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

One of the Lowell members of Battery F told a most interesting story to illustrate the spirit of co-operation among the officers and members of Lowell's own artillery unit at the reception tendered the battery Thursday evening by John P. Hall in Centralville. It seems that after the armistice was signed a party of the battery boys came upon a French cellar in which a considerable amount of first quality French wine was stored. The battery boys had an idea that the place had been deserted and therefore made free with the vintage. Shortly afterward French revenue officials made a tour of inspection in that vicinity, found that the wine was gone and immediately sought out the cause of the drought. Eventually suspicion centered upon the artillerists and their commander was obliged to pay $500 for the loss. Nothing more was said until the day the battery was discharged at Camp Devens and then each member chipped in $5 to restore the "hooch" money to their commander.

Under the new scheme of doing things in relation to running a movie theatre, most managers have adopted a plan whereby the girl in the ticket booth who generally answers the telephone, has a schedule in front of her which tells exactly at what time each feature picture starts. This is done at many places in Lowell. Movie managers tell us it is astonishing how many telephone queries they receive from movie fans asking when a certain feature will start. But a reader has complained that in some places the girl answering the phone misinforms. Of course it would not be done intentionally. There are some fans who are willing to pay the admission demanded for the full program just for the sake of going in and seeing their favorite star in some feature they think would be good. That is all of the program they want to see and after the feature is over they skip out and take up their business again. It can thus be seen how important it is that the girl at the theatre gives the right information.

Do Lowell people pay their bills?

There never was a more honorable or a more just debt than the obligation for each of us to pay his share in the war just closed. One pays it by subscribing for a Victory bond. Do Lowell people pay their bills? We shall see. You'd buy stock in Standard Oil, wouldn't you? Well, Victory bonds in the United States government, for a successful investment, begin where Standard Oil leaves off.

We must hand it to those two sky boats of the United States navy. In successfully making Halifax after their 8 hour jaunt from Rockaway, N. Y., they have progressed farther towards their journey to England, than have Hawker and Raynham, marking time at St. John's.

When we read that the Americans of German extraction living in Greater New York have subscribed, so far, $29,000,000 for Victory bonds, we are forced to admit that there is little of the modern German left in them. They are 100 per cent American.

Governor Harrison of the Philippines says the Filipinos are operating public utilities at a profit. Can we persuade them to accept mandatory government of the United States?

A "dependable and harmless" substitute for morphine has been evolved by experts in the Kansas University department of pharmacy, according to Dean L. E. Sayer. But Al Right is the sayer of this: "Nothing can ever equal the sleep producing qualities of old fashioned sermons I used to listen to when I was a boy."

"Why Do We Marry?"

At a "husbands' night" of a women's club in New York city a feature of the entertainment was the answering by the men, on slips of paper, of the question, "Why should a woman marry?" and by the women of the question, "Why should a man marry?" A prize was offered for the best an-swever to each of these questions.

The best man's answer was adjudged to be this: "Because in that way a woman wins perfection"—a kind of double-edged compliment to teach sex.

The woman's prize went to this answer: "I know no reason why a man should marry"—a bit of subtle feminine self-efacement that seemed so unusual in these days that it "hit" the awarding committee.

The shortest answer given to the question, "Why should a man marry?" was, "Alimony." The longest was this, "Because character, not happiness, is the object of life; and in sacrificing her happiness by marriage a woman confers character on a man and wins it in greater measure for herself."

A widely known artist wrote the question, "Why should a man marry?" and opposite it simply drew a picture of a pretty girl. Another answer to the same question was, "To save that extra thousand on his income tax."—Outlook Magazine.

WORD ABOUT MILK BOTTLES

It used to be the case when folks were hard up for something to wonder about, to pick on the old problem of "what becomes of all the pins?" Now they've got a new one to wonder over. What becomes of all the milk bottles?

Government statistics show that the average milk bottle only visits the back door 17 times before its general health breaks down. Only 17 clanks in a milk bottle and it's done for. Either lost, strayed or broken. Hundreds of milk bottles are aimed at feline prima donnas every night. Thousands of 'em are doing duty as receptacles for oil, etc., in the home garages, and as paint cans in the household. Millions of 'em have fatal results caroming down back stairs and staggering out window sills. Anyhow, after July 1, there'll be a surplus of glass to make up for the amount lost in milk bottles.

THE GRASSCUTTER CUTTER

Can't cut down the grass with an auto, but you can cut down the grass with an auto-mower. The grasscutter cutter. It's the latest noise in lawn mowers. Works on the same principle as a flivver. Only you follow it instead of pulling it. Where the other shakes you loose, this ruffles the grass to pieces. The old-fashioned lawn razor is one man-power. The new gas-scissors, is two noise-power.

This will give the sound sleeping neighbor two reasons for hand grubbing the early bird that manures the green into his tall dreams. No coaxing or forcing the future voters to shave the lawn with the new clover flivver. More likely, looking it in the garden garage to give the grass a chance for a seventh inning stretch.

THE PASSERS-BY

"What would you most?" And I sought the eye. And I held the sleeve of the passers-by.

"Tull!" cried the cross one, "what a question! Less appetite and more digestion!"

"Oh," moaned the woman, round as a thumb.

"Give me my waist! and the rest will come."

"Name!" cried a youth, "and a crown of bays. And my Name loud on the lips of praise."

"A hundred yards in eleven flat. And a keen, lean heart," said the man.

"Dreams," said the maid, as she looked me through.

"Dreams and the making of dreams come true."

"Faith," cried the wife, "in whole and part. And the steadfast beat of a husband-heart."

"The fire of youth," said the ancient sage.

"The wine of life and the mind of age."

"The name!" cried Power, "and the zest of life."

"The dollar cut dollar and wit bite wit."

But the mother cried, "Whatever the cost—

The laugh of my little one, loved and lost."

THE CASE OF IRELAND

United Irish League For Self-Determination — Ireland Baisely Betrayed

The following statement of Ireland's case and counsel to Ireland's friends has been given out by the old United Irish league which joins the new movement:

At a recent meeting of the remnant of the old United Irish league a resolution was adopted declaring that parliamentary agitation for the rights of Ireland was dead, having been basely betrayed by the British government first by former Premier Asquith and later by the present premier who has followed in the footsteps of his predecessor.

It was shown that the Irish national party had been betrayed in the hour of victory after Ireland had exhausted all peaceable methods and proved her sincerity by giving many of her bravest men, such as William Redmond, Thomas Kettle and thousands of others who lost their lives in fighting England's battles. In addition 55 per cent. of her man power volunteered for service during the war.

The home rule act was placed on the statute book in 1914, but Sir Edward Carson and a few British generals objected and promptly Mr. Asquith said "It is unthinkable to coerce Ulster."

Thus Carson is given a veto power upon the rights of the Irish nation and Carson is but a tool of the British aristocracy whose veto power had been taken away in 1911.

Lloyd George said he would give home rule to Ireland if the people would agree upon what they wanted, and he mocked the people by calling a national convention, to draft a constitution for Ireland, knowing full well that the Carsonites would agree to no form of home rule that would not maintain their ascendancy. The convention was a failure as might be expected, although the nationalist majority reported the fundamental principles of a measure of home rule which the government ignored.

This was the last straw that crushed

the hopes of the nationalists at home and abroad and drove them into the camp of the Sinn Fein party.

The last election in Ireland wiped out the national party and elected Sinn Feiners to more than three-fourths of the seats in parliament and every man of them is a rebel against British rule and British authority in Ireland. They stand for the right of self determination for Ireland, a right that under the new order of things the world over is to be accorded to many small nations formerly held in bondage by powerful governments.

Under these conditions what are the former advocates of home rule to do whether in this country or elsewhere. Simply what they have always done. Find what policy the Irish people at home have adopted for the regeneration of their country and stand by them in support of that by every means possible. That is the only policy by which anything can be accomplished.

What can Ireland do?

She can rebel as in 1916 but the former members of the United Irish league believe that policy would be ruinous and would give England the pretext she wants for slaughtering the people and putting the country under severe coercive measures and martial law.

Other policies that may be adopted were suggested by the recent meeting of the United Irish league as follows:

First, passive resistance to British authority in Ireland.

Second, a union of the entire Irish race outside Ireland in opposition to British interests economic and otherwise and to inaugurate movements for the independence of the other British Colonies including Canada, Australia, New Zealand and India.

The application of such methods might convince England that after all it would be better to follow Gladstone's example and listen to the voice of the people rather than the howl of the Ulster faction.

Since Gladstone's day the democracy of England has been anxious to see justice done to Ireland; but the aristocracy represented in the houses of lords and subsequently by Sir Edward Carson prevented a settlement and still holds Ireland subject to the will of a minority less than one-fourth of the entire people. In conclusion it is the hope of the United Irish league that the former members will support the new movement as well as they supported the old for the last 30 years.

FIRE DESTROYS MILL
Shoddy Plant a Total Loss and Nearby Dwelling Houses Also Damaged

The shoddy mill of Hamilton & Hersey, Inc., Rockingham street, Winsted, was totally destroyed by fire between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and sparks from the burning building set fire in six dwelling houses nearby and seriously damaged one of them, the house occupied by Rev. John Singleton, pastor of the Lawrence Street P.M. church, and Arthur Dean. The loss at the shoddy mill is estimated at approximately $17,000 and on the house, about $1800. The damage to the other houses was confined principally to exterior scorching, although a few roof shingles were torn off by the firemen in one or two instances as the sparks caused a smoldering.

No cause of the fire has been determined. With Chief Saunders was P. G. Hale of the state police, in charge of fire investigation, but he hesitated to express an opinion, but believed that the blaze might have started from the old cause of spontaneous combustion.

The building was of wood construction, owned by John W. Robinson of Clark road and built some 30 years ago. For a time it was used as a shoe shop. It was good fire material and the wool rags used in the shoddy business caused the blaze to spread quickly.

The fire was discovered by F. M. Hamilton and C. L. Hersey, proprietors of the plant, and when Hersey went into the building to investigate, heavy smoke and flames drove him back and he was compelled to jump through a window to the ground. A telephone alarm was first sent in by Richard Sykes, who owns three houses directly opposite the mill and almost simultaneously a bell alarm was sounded from box 821 at Lawrence and Morton streets. Shortly after another alarm was sent in from box 823 which had the effect of calling second alarm apparatus.

The fire had swept pretty much through the mill by the time the firemen arrived and although a dozen streams of water were immediately turned on it, the fire practically burned itself out. Meanwhile, neighbors and members of the Lowell high school baseball team who hurried over to the fire from Spalding park, removed the furniture from the two-family house occupied by Rev. Mr. Singleton and Mr. Dean. The firemen prevented the destruction of this house, but the interior was badly damaged by water.

Fred C. Church carried the insurance on the shoddy mill and contents and also carried part of the insurance on the houses owned by Mr. Sykes and Mr. Pringle.

STRIKERS TO RETURN

Lawrence Loomfixers Vote To Go Back to Work on Monday

LAWRENCE, May 10.—Loomfixers employed at the Washington mill of the American Woolen Co., who have been on strike for several weeks, will return to work Monday. Announcement of their decision reached at a meeting last night, was made today. Members of the so-called grievance committee appointed yesterday at meetings of strikers of 10 nationalities, held a joint meeting today, but no announcement of any action was made. Angelo Rocco, chairman of a business men's committee, at whose suggestion the committees were selected, had an appointment for a conference with Winthrop L. Marvin, secretary of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers.

GERMAN REPLY TO THE TREATY

Will Be Proposal "For Peace of Right on Basis of Lasting Peace of Nations"

Pres. Ebert Outlines Plan in Proclamation to German People

BERLIN, Friday, May 9.—Germany's reply to the terms of peace presented at Versailles on Wednesday, will be a proposal "for a peace of right on the basis of a lasting peace of the nations," according to a proclamation to the German people issued here today by President Ebert.

The proclamation says the treaty would "deliver German labor to foreign capitalism for the indignity of wage slavery and permanently fetter the young German republic."

The text follows:

"The first reply of the allies to the sincere desire for peace on the part of our starving people, was the laying down of the uncomely haughty conditions. The German people, having laid down its arms, honestly observed all the obligations of the armistice, hard as they were. Notwithstanding this, our opponents for six months have continued the war by maintaining the blockade. The German people bore all these burdens, trusting in the promise given by the allies in their note of November 8, that peace would be a peace of right on the basis of President Wilson's 14 points."

"Instead of that, the allies have now given us peace terms which are in contradiction to the promise given. It is unbearable for the German people and is incomprehensible even if we put forth all our powers. Violence without measure would be done to the German people. From such an imposed peace fresh hatred would be bound to arise between the nations and in the course of history there would be new wars. The world would be obliged to bury every hope of a league of nations liberating and healing the nations and insuring peace."

"The dismemberment and mangling of the German people, the delivering of German labor to foreign capitalism for the indignity of wage slavery and the permanent fettering of the young German republic is the aim of this peace of violence. The German people's government will answer the peace proposal of violence with a proposal of a peace of right on the basis of a lasting peace of the nations."

"The fact that all circles of the German people have been moved so deeply testifies that the German government is giving expression to the united will of the German nation. The German government will put forth every effort to secure for the German people the same national unity and independence and the same freedom of labor in economical and cultural respects which the allies want to give to all the peoples of Europe, save only our people."

"Our nation must save itself by its own action. In view of this danger of destruction, the German nation and the government which it chose, must stand by each other, knowing no parties. Let Germany unite in a single will to preserve German nationality and liberties. Every thought and the entire will of the nation ought now to be turned to labor for the preservation and reconstruction of our fatherland. The government appeals to all Germans in this hard hour to preserve with it mutual trust in the path of duty in the belief and in the triumph of reason and of right."

MEXICO'S TRADE WEALTH READY
FOR GARNERING BY AMERICANS.Allied Blacklist Boomerang to American Firms
---"Gringo Hating" in Mexico Largely Fiction on Propaganda to Close Trade Gate

BY JACK NEVILLE

American newspaperman and investigator who has lived for years in Mexico and who has just spent four months there on special detail for The Sun.

(Copyright, 1919, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

MEXICO CITY, May 10.—The latest string of Mexico's treasure house, its riches hardly touched, is hanging out for the American investor, merchant and salesman who will do himself the favor of learning the Mexican's mode of living and thinking.

An American salesman may be ultra-successful in the United States and a perfect boor in the Mexican field. He may be a boor at home and a top-notcher down there. It depends on his understanding of Mexican character.

For those who do understand, the sky is the limit.

Mexican consumption of our material has been large, but could be doubled.

A family worth $100,000 here lives as well as the millionaire at home.

And the demands of the poor, the man of the masses, who is being taught to live, are constantly increasing.

To get this trade, two hard and fast rules must be observed:

The merchant and manufacturer must be "square."

Capturing Mexican Trade

If you are not "simpatico" you had better remain at home where politeness is not essential. If you expect to assume an air of superiority and approach a customer, order book in hand, you are doomed. Nobody hurries in Mexico, not even to catch a train.

To land a customer you must bide your time; await his pleasure; invite him out for a drink (if you are an abstainer take water); take him to dinner; be solicitous about the welfare of his family. If there are children, a little souvenir of your friendship is a great opener. If the merchant keeps your samples a week or two or—if you have to call on him twenty times—don't fret; hide your impatience under a smile.

Greet him each time as though you had been absent for months. When he does order it's apt to be a carload—maybe a trainload, and he will

Quarter Century Ago

Says the old Sun:

"At the meeting of the Kirk street, V.P.S.C.E. last evening an interesting letter was read from Miss Mallette Melvin, principal of a college at Shanghai, China, describing her experiences in getting settled in her new home. She said the people are anxious for educational advantages and the future of the college is very bright."

Miss Melvin had been a teacher in the local high school and a woman of great ability. She became so obsessed with a desire to reach the heathens that she gave up her position and went to China. While in Lowell she often lectured on a great variety of topics and always displayed a thorough knowledge of her subject.

Cycling Across the Atlantic

Apropos of the effort to fly across the Atlantic at the present time, the following from the old Sun will be of interest:

NOTTINGHAM, May 7.—During the present month an attempt will be made by William Oldham to cross the Atlantic on a water cycle. Oldham is 29 years old and an inventor. He is a member of the army reserve and served 10 years, mostly in India. While in India he studied navigation, and got the idea in his head that sometime he would cross the Atlantic ocean in the earliest possible craft.

Oldham's boat was 19 and a half feet long, 5 feet beam and 3 and a half feet deep with a draft of 20 inches of water. Oldham made the attempt but something happened that upset his calculations and he did not come across.

MacKeen-MacLean

Says the old Sun:

"The marriage of John T. MacKeen and Miss Margaret H. MacLean took place yesterday evening at the residence of the bride's sister, 128 South Highland street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Court."

The Meigs Railroad

The following from The Sun will recall the strong personality of Captain Joe V. Meigs, father of the late Dr. Meigs and of Dr. Return J. Meigs. The captain invented a railroad system and in trying to have it adopted, he had strong backing as well as strong opposition as the following report will show:

There was a big hearing at the state house last night on the proposed organization of the Meigs Elevated Railway company, with a capital of $20,000,000. Among the Lowell men present were Fisher H. Pearson, C. H. Coburn, Rep. Ross C. G. Coburn, T. H. Corniel, E. W. Loveloy and Captain Hanscom. Mr. Willard Howland made the opening address, and Mr. George H. Towle laid out, oratorically, the opposition to Capt. Meigs' road.

"City Solicitor Bailey, representing Boston, objected to Mr. Towle's remarks and there was a spat during which Mr. Towle called Mayor Mathews' subway scheme an alloy and hole in the ground plan. Mr. Bailey took Mayor Mathews' plan, and replied to every charge."

"Capt. Meigs explained his system and the hearing closed with a victory for Capt. Meigs."

"In a Boston paper today E. Moody Boynton of bicycle railroad fame came out with a severe criticism of the Meigs system of railroading. The charter given 10 years ago to Meigs, Butler and others required the building of at least one mile of road. They never built it. It could not compete in speed and economy and that was the reason in my opinion."

"Roads should not be built on sympathy, or favor or prejudice. I should be willing to have every one given a

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets have substituted for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime. Liberal Constitutional Guarantees for Toilers and Sane Labor—Chiefs Snuff at Red Radicalism—Better Days for LaborersBY JACK NEVILLE
(Special N.E.A. Correspondent)
Copyright, 1919, Newspaper Enterprise Association

MEXICO CITY, May.—Mexico harbors no Bolshevik threat for America.

Despite the disruptions of revolution and the long suffering of a people oppressed and exploited as few have been in modern history, red radicalism has found no hot-bed of propagation here.

President Carranza, his advisers and labor leaders believe they have discovered an effective inoculation against collective anarchy in the Mexican constitution and the character of workers' organizations.

The constitution, one of the world's most liberal charters, is remarkable for its specific definition of labor's rights, and Carranza's policy of protection against Bolshevikism is constructive rather than repressive.

Labor laws thus placed beyond political whim, carry the following provisions:

An eight-hour day, or a seven-hour night shift.

Maximum six-hour work day for children between 12 and 16.

Work of children under 12 not subject to contract.

Women safeguarded from hard work during three months preceding parturition; compulsory one month's rest after childbirth, and 30 minutes' daily rest to devote to nursing babies—with full pay and retention of contract rights.

Minimum wage essential to normal needs, education and legitimate pleasures, this minimum exempt from attachment or discount.

Certain profit-sharing privileges in agricultural, commercial, mining and manufacturing enterprises.

No sex discrimination in wages.

Overtime, for which pay must be double, limited to three hours each for not more than three successive days, and no women of any age or boys under 16 to work overtime.

Extensive employers of labor to furnish comfortable and sanitary dwellings for workmen, the monthly rental not to exceed one-half of one per cent, of the assessed valuation; to establish schools, dispensaries and other essential community services.

Saloons and gambling places prohibited in labor centers.

Employers' liability for industrial accidents and occupational diseases.

Regulation of strikes and lockouts through arbitration machinery.

Employment fees prohibited.

In bankruptcy cases workmen's wages given preference to all debts.

Permission of employers and employees to organize.

Such are some of the more important guarantees to the Mexican worker incorporated in the constitution itself—a document which is vigorously assailed in certain international as well as home quarters as Bolshevik in content, and as vigorously defended by the Carranza government as an antidote for the "red" plague.

Its effect will, of course, depend largely upon how it is enforced, and anyone familiar with the constitution will admit that certain clauses will become bids for extortion unless conscientiously administered.

The payment of wages to women before and after childbirth, for instance, and a three months' indemnity upon the employer for unjust discharge, meet violent opposition. Employers argue that the one is an unjust charge against

SPILLANE SAYS PLAN TO ABOLISH MONEY HASN'T CHANCE IN WORLD

Noted Financial Writer Says Lenin's Plan Is Not New—It Dates Back to Pre-Historic Time Before Money Was Known

BY RICHARD SPILLANE

Most Noted Financial Writer in America, and Special Economics Contributor to The Sun.

Money, it has been said, is the root of all evil. Therefore, in curing the ills from which Russia suffers, Lenin proposes to abolish money.

His method has the merit of novelty. His plans to make money so plentiful that it will be worthless. The printing presses are busy turning out paper roubles as fast as men and machines can print them.

Other governments have made their money valueless, but not deliberately. Of comparatively recent time you could buy a $10 bill of one of the Mexican governments for one cent and a $100 note for a nickel. In the closing days of the confederacy $500 in paper money was paid for a pair of boots and at that, the seller of the boots got the worst of it.

Production and Reward

When Lenin has flooded Russia with money so that its debasement makes it ridiculous he plans to introduce the communistic ideal of valuation—the production of the worker being the standard, the basis, on which all goods are to be measured. Land, mills, ships, everything held in common by the state, is to be measured.

Other governments have made their money valueless, but not deliberately. Of comparatively recent time you could buy a $10 bill of one of the Mexican governments for one cent and a $100 note for a nickel. In the closing days of the confederacy $500 in paper money was paid for a pair of boots and at that, the seller of the boots got the worst of it.

Horses and cattle are scarce in Russia today owing to the war. Lenin means to make the machine do work of the farm. He means also to increase the production of wheat greatly thereby. Russia in normal times averaged nine bushels to the acre. Recently it has fallen to five bushels to the acre. It is possible to increase production to 15 bushels within a few years.

Lowering Men's Level

The richest farm land in Europe is in the Ukraine. The sugar production there could supply most of Europe if the disorder ended and men got back to work. The Caucasus is an agricultural wonderland, but is as backward as Africa. Parts of Siberia offer large opportunity agriculturally and otherwise.

In his scheme of building Russia up from the foundation of the farm Lenin is wise but otherwise his project is crazy. It can bring nothing but chaos. It means the bringing of all men to one level—a very low level. It means death to enterprise, initiative, development. It means suppression to ambition and almost to aspiration. It means turning back the world to the age of crudity.

Russia has the reputation of being the most graft ridden land in the world. Graft is an established institution, recognized, accepted and not considered bad form. What opportunity for graft this new-old system would afford.

Lenin says Russia will be a workers' paradise. Anyone who wishes to enter this paradise should start at once to avoid the rush.

A land of 182,000,000 persons with out money, all to start as equals, and remain as equals with no one to receive more compensation than the ordinary worker and to purchase only by the product of his day's work, with all factories, farms, stores, and utilities owned in common—that is the Utopia Lenin holds out to view.

Possibly some persons who believe money is the root of all evil would prefer to stick around where they can get to the root.

Lady Lookabout

These are the days when one has to keep his temper well in hand if he be a patron of the street cars. Prepayment is the reason. Coming down Mid-dieses street you press a button and the car comes to a stop. Who would you if you pull a bell rope? You start to leave the car by the door you entered and you are politely but firmly requested to leave by the front door. You do so amid a little bewilderment. Perhaps you continue your journey on the Gorham street line. You come to your destination. You motion to the conductor to stop the car. His back is toward you as he attends to the fare box. You look for a button to press. There is none. Your desirousness whisks past. In frantic, helplessness you turn to the conductor. He sees not, neither does he hear. Over your head you spy three or four bell ropes. In desperation you pull one and the car comes to a stop. You try to leave by the front door as on the Mid-dieses street line. It is securely locked. In haste you half run the length of the car to the rear door. In a freezing politeness, which serves but poorly to conceal the seething volcano of wrath within you, you say to the conductor: "How is a passenger to stop the car when the conductor keeps his back turned?"

With a benign and indulgent smile he answers: "Easiest thing in the world, madame; just pull the bell rope." You succumb.

You can easily distinguish the resident from the visitor in Lowell by the way they try to leave the street car. The resident tries hard to show by his actions that he has previously ridden. He knows how to press a button, if there be one to press. He knows how to leave by the front door, and he is willing to do it. The visitor tries to leave by the front door. Sometimes he is successful. Sometimes he is not. In the latter case he turns and looks helplessly at the other passengers. Then he pushes, pulls and rattles at the door until the motorman is compelled to remove the combination lock. Getting off a street car is a great game if you don't weaken.

Poppies in Memory of Our Heroes

What promises to become a national custom has been started in Washington, D. C. The city parks are being planted in beds with poppies as a symbol of the nation's soldier dead. For more than one reason, the poppy is chosen. Mainly, perhaps, on account of the beautiful poem written by the soldier who later fell on the battlefield of Flanders:

"In Flanders' fields the poppies blow,
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our resting place."

Another reason is that the poppy always has been the symbol of sleep.

WHEN FATHER WILL A-FISHING

GO, HERE'S HOW TO COOK

HIS CATCH!

BY BIDDIE BYE.

"Time to go fishin'," says father one of these fine spring days, and marches away with rod and reel or pole, and line. And at supper time mother stands over the oven, or broiler while all the family chant that famous single:

"Little fishy in the brook,
Father catch him with a hook,
Mother fry him in the pan,
Johnny eat him like a man!"

As a matter of cold fact father may have caught little shy down at the market—or mother may have carried him prosaically home in a market basket—but it always adds a flavor to a fish dinner to recite the nonsense rhyme. Small fish is usually pan broiled. After cleaning well dip the fish in heavily salted milk, roll in fine bread crumbs and broil in a pan or over a broiler and a hot fire. If cooked in a pan grease the pan with bacon drippings, brown the fish quickly on both sides, then cover, lower the heat and cook until tender. Be careful not to cook too dry.

A Creole recipe for cooking trout or trout steaks is as follows:

Beat the yolks of 2 eggs into 2 cupfuls of sweet milk, and season highly with salt and pepper. Soak the trout steaks in the liquid, remove and roll thickly in fine bread crumbs in hot fat. Cook 5 minutes and serve with tartare sauce.

BAD STOMACH; NEARLY STARVED TO DEATH

Mr. and Mrs. Hampton Both Eat Anything They Want Now

"I have had stomach trouble and constipation for 10 years. I could not eat anything and almost starved to death. After I began to eat Mills Emulsion I began to eat anything I wanted. I feel like a new woman and am doing my own work again."

"My husband also was badly afflicted with stomach trouble and for a long time lived on soup and light diet. Eight bottles of Mills Emulsion cured him sound and well and he can eat as much solid food as he likes."—Mrs. George Hampton, 303 North 12th St., Cincinnati, Ill.

The thousands of people have used Mills Emulsion with the same results that Mrs. Hampton describes. It costs nothing to try—it is guaranteed.

Mills Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and purges. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength Mills Emulsion is strongly recommended to rundown nervous people, and it has produced amazing results in many cases of tuberculosis of the lungs. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. A truly wonderful medicine for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Mills Emulsion under the doctor's guarantee. Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions, and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Mills Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold and guaranteed by Fred Howard.—Adv.

FOR A CUTE KIDDIE GIRL

BY BETTY BROWN

"Ah! to be a child again!" sigh Madame Mother and Big Sister when gazing at this ravishing little frock for a small person! And it's just a play dress at that! Any mother can make it in a fraction of a twinkling from a bit of white linen or colored chambray, or even gingham or percale. This is white linen, embroidered a bit with red and blue cotton yarns, and touched up with a bright blue cotton cord and insets. The buttons are red-like cinnamon drops—and the effect is perfectly sweet!

BY BETTY BROWN.

STUNNING

Paris can be simple with such an air! Not ornamental but effect was the goal of the French designer who created this gown of black satin. The tight-fitted bodice confines in soft gathers the full skirt which yet contrives to be narrow. The imitable touch of the artist lies in the twisted satin ribbons of king's blue which circle the bodice and form a trio of bows at the front. A narrow band of blue paillettes marks the waist-line. The deep ruff about the neck-line is black tulle. A hat of black satin with fluttering ostrich plumes is the climax of this creation.

SPRING FASHION FOR MOTHER

BY BETTY BROWN

This clever little springtime suit for the mature woman is developed in navy blue tricotine with hairline stripes of white skillfully cut to form a waist-coat as a part of the jacket. The trimming is broad black silk braid and buttons. A rough straw turban with gray and blue wing trimmings is a chic accompaniment.

FOUND! COMBINATION REFRIGERATOR—FIRELESS!

N.E.A. Special to The Sun.

Down in Rochester, New York, there has been invented a marvelous piece of furniture which is either a refrigerator or a fireless cooker!

The new invention—which is called the Rochester Cold Box and is sponsored by the Rochester public health bureau, can be made at home by any "handy man" at a total cost of three dollars and sixty-seven cents!

As tested in Rochester the cold-box will keep the food placed in it cold and fresh for five days on 50 pounds of ice. This test was met even when the box was set on a porch in the sun or stood in a warm kitchen.

As estimated by the Rochester board of health the cost of the cold box is as follows:

Zinc box and tray	$2.50
Wire netting	.25
Hinges and screws	.25
Nails	.05
Oilcloth	.10
Total	$3.12

Cost of wooden box and lumber box for legs, 8.40.

Sawdust for filling, 8.15.

Total cost of box, $3.67.

How to Build the Cold Box.

The accompanying diagram shows how the box is built with proper measurements noted.

To begin get a wooden packing case a foot long, 2 feet wide and 2 feet deep.

Buy a zinc casing or tank 26 inches long, 15 1/2 inches wide and 15 inches deep, with a ridge down for a shelf along the sides 5 inches down from the top, and an iron pipe 6 1/2 inches long with a trap at the bottom. This tank should have a flange at the top 4 inches wide at the sides and 3 inches at front and back. This flange is tacked down to the wooden sill of the finished box to prevent food getting into the sawdust and make the box easy to clean.

The outside box of wood must be large enough so that when the zinc box is set inside there will be a clear space of 3 inches between wood and zinc and 4 inches of space at the bottom. Rebuild the wooden case so there are at least three ventilating spaces 3/4 of an inch wide on front, back, sides and bottom. See diagram. For headaches, dizziness, languor, etc. there are many causes but when aggravated by a complete derangement of the digestive organs, they are doubly disagreeable. A torpid liver or over-burdened stomach, is not conducive to happiness. Perfect health depends in a great measure upon the perfect condition of the stomach.

for Women's Troubles

BEECHAM'S PILLS

have for seventy years been the favorite remedy for stomach and liver ailments. Their action is easy and certain. They eliminate the secretions of indigestible matter in the intestines, purge the liver, stimulate the tissues, send pure invigorating blood through the veins, energize the nerve cells. Health will soon return and morbid conditions disappear. That's why they are so popular, and why they have been found in the cause of health to.

MT. PLEASANT SPRING
TO HELP BONE DRY

With the coming of the enforcement of the prohibition law starting July 1st, all the temperance drink concerns—bottlers of various kinds of cooling and harmless drinks—are preparing their plants to care for additional business which, it is expected, may be of increasingly large volume.

Notably among such concerns is the Standard Bottling company, bottlers of Mt. Pleasant Spring Ginger Ale and other beverages. This is bottled at the famous Mt. Pleasant spring and besides the ingredients other than this, the purest of spring water, it should not be forgotten that the spring water itself contains therapeutic properties advised and recommended by physicians.

The telephone number of the Standard Bottling company is 115 Westford, and the product is sold in case lots and more, on telephone order, delivery being made by truck. The Mt. Pleasant spring products have been made in Westford for many years and the age of the company is a guarantee to the quality of the beverages sold.

HONEY CRUST BREAD
MAKES MANY FRIENDS

The popular brand of bread known as Honey Crust Bread, manufactured by the Massachusetts Bakery, a Lowell concern, has met with the favor of Lowell families to a long time. Its weight, taste, crust and general excellence seem to command it to women who must make the dollars go as far as possible in the matter of buying bread and all the other articles of food needed in the home.

The Massachusetts Bakery is about the only bakery in northern Massachusetts that goes to the extent—so great is its faith in the general excellence of Honey Crust Bread—of offering to personally demonstrate the quality of the bread to any housewife in the city. This service—something distinctly new in the business of baking bread commercially—enables its being permitted that any interested party may telephone the bakery and have a sample loaf of the bread delivered for test and comparison with other kinds of bread being sold in the city.

BRADT BAKERY TO MAKE SODA CRACKER

The Bradt Bakery, O. Turcotte proprietor, reports business coming along in pretty fair volume due to the modest advertising campaign starting and the long and favorably known reputation for the quality of goods turned out at the Bradt bakery for so many years.

The Bradt bakery makes a fine line of soda crackers and butter crackers, so called, and shortly is to put an entirely new line of goods on the market in the shape of salines. This product with the Bradt mark of excellence on it, will make its appearance in Lowell stores as well as in stores in Nashua, Haverhill, Lawrence and other Massachusetts cities and towns in about two weeks, and will be a saline worth waiting for.

Another feature of the Meyer thread assortments is "Merrimac," a thread for the upper needles of Recco machines, put up in special tubes of white, black and assorted colors. Favorite sizes in this are 40 and 60. The Meyer company also sells ready wound bobbins for the Recco finishing machine.

The company also makes three brands of fine quality buttonhole cord, Neponset, Melbourne and Kumagen.

Business is reported as being very fair with the John C. Meyer Thread Mills company, Middlesex street, and deservedly so on account of the many years this industry has been established and the high ideal of quality maintained in all the years its different thread products have been made.

Among the specialties of the company is the "Gretna Twist," a machine twist for buttonhole work. Its users are more and more using it to replace the costly silk threads heretofore used for this purpose. It is found to have the strength, lustre and wearing quality demanded by all manufacturers of high grade button shoes. The twist is sold in all guaranteed colors.

The John C. Meyer Co. is sometimes known as the Lowell Thread Mills and to the shoe manufacturing trade as the "shoe thread mills," on account of the specialty it makes of manufacturing all kinds of threads used in the shoe industry. Another feature of show industry.

OBSERVE MOTHER'S DAY

Many Local Churches Will Hold Special Exercises in Commemoration of Day

Tomorrow in Lowell, as in all other cities and towns in this country, is semi-officially designated as "Mother's Day."

It would be hard to find a family in all the city tomorrow in which some observance of the custom is not made. The wives of the florists enter considerably into a graceful observance of the day for, by ordained custom, the men are supposed to wear a fine red carnation if the mother of the family is still alive, and a white carnation if she be dead. Lowell florists are in full recognition of what the day stands for and their advertisements and window displays not only call attention to the custom of wearing the two colors of carnations, but suggestions are skillfully made that one of the most presents to the mother can be made in the form of cut flowers or a blooming potted plant.

The churches of the city have centered their services very largely into the spirit of "Mother's day," and pastors will in many instances take the theme of motherhood for their morning or evening sermon and the surrounding exercises will be of an appropriate character as for instance the singing of old time songs and hymns dear to mothers of the older generation.

Some pastors have not hesitated to make the observance of the day and its significance, point a moral in respect to the topic upon which they will speak. The pastor of the First Baptist church for instance, has taken as his subject, "The Best Woman God Ever Made," and in a sub topic of the matter that advertises his mother's day service, he says: "How does the modern 'Movie,' 'Club' and 'Dancing,' mother compare with her?" So that it would appear that at this church, as in other churches sermons will be preached to give mothers, fathers and all others, considerable food for thought.

One of the customs that goes with the observance of Mother's Day, as has been intimated above, is to give the mother in one's family some little token of kindly remembrance and the Lowell merchants have taken full recognition of this idea and have made special displays of articles dear to the feminine mind as being appropriate for Mother's day gifts.

It is a hard and strange task to set out to extend homage to the average mother for the reason that every man to whom the message was addressed usually believes that he has a higher appreciation of motherhood and all that it stands for, than any other man, whether he lives up to it and carries it out, or not. Just as true as it is that man fails when he attempts to improve the coloring of a fly, so is it correspondingly true that motherhood stands as an office apart from even the greatest offices in community life and few are the orators who may do it justice.

The best expression of what Mother's day should actually stand for seems to The Sun to have been skillfully and impressively expressed by Margaret Edwards, the noted newspaper writer, in this, which was written especially for this paper:

"Mother's day is just what it should be, a dear, intimate and homely festival to be celebrated in our hearts and our homes. Like mother herself, it has nothing to do with bands and banners and great processions and public ceremonies. Most of us "celebrate" Mother's day in just the way she would like best—in remembering and loving her, and in her memory or for her sake—by doing some quiet act of kindness, for her, or for someone she loved.

"Isn't it a pleasant thing to think that we commemorate Mother's day by wearing a flower, by going to church, by doing and thinking kindly things? The very manner of our observance expresses mother—her love of beauty, her pure, quiet devotion to God and His work, her simplicity, her eternal dedication of herself to kindly service to others.

frame the word, however many thousands of differing mental visions may rise in our hearts at the name it is always the same mother! This woman in the calico gown, the silk dress—calling, calling to us from the cottage, the farmhouse, the city home—is always mother, with the same tender eyes, the white hair, the gentle face and worn hands tired with their labor for us—always mother—with the dauntless soul, the uplifted spirit—the deep love! Many forms—but always the same mother.

We would honor her by remembering her love, and from her spirit we receive a new vision of the love we must give; we recall her unnumbered services to us, and straightforward in our hearts there springs up her demand that we serve others as she served us; we think of her infinite patience and are lifted up by the resolve to be kind; we remember her purity, her faith, her gentle goodness; and in our hearts the torch of unquenchable desire for

On and Off the Stage

Doings of the Screen Artists

William G. McAdoo, who has built tunnels, directed the nation's finances and supervised the railroads, proved to be an excellent pitcher at a benefit baseball game staged for the benefit of the Salvation Army. The former rail chief pitched the first ball to Douglas Fairbanks, who in turn instructed the umpire to yell "Play ball!" McAdoo was accompanied by his wife, daughter of President Wilson. They motored from Santa Barbara to Los Angeles, where they lunched with Mary Pickford, after which they journeyed with "Dong" to the ball grounds.

The Metro property men can hardly be blamed for their lack of enthusiasm over the big street battle scene in "The Red Lantern." You see there were 300 Chinese representing the Boxer "army" and when their work was done they dropped their weapons and made a wild dash for the pay window, leaving the property men to follow them around the lot picking up swords, spears, holo knives, cleavers and such sharp-edged hardware that they left behind.

Lillian Greenberger, Universal casting director, has her troubles these days. She says all the old-timers ingenues want to be emotional leading women, and the leading women who play society types want to do western "stuff." The western stars want to show what they can do in evening clothes and sobs. The villains want to be heroes, and the heroes want "heavy" parts that lets them be heroes and villains both. How can she keep them all happy? She doesn't.

May Allison owns a sleep-walking cat. The fact that it is a Persian cat makes no difference to the Hollywood residents. He prowls, and that's enough. They have asked her to lock it up, but May can't understand their attitude because in her opinion the cat has a grand soprano voice. The opinion is exclusive.

The announcement made by the World pictures that it has taken over the distribution of a picturization of James Whitcomb Riley's famous poem, "Little Orphant Annie," recalls the fact that Riley, in this instance, is credited with having written the greatest money-making poem and the best paid piece of literary work ever published if one takes into consideration the number of words. With what was paid for the moving picture right, together with the rights of publication, it brought in more than $1000 a word.

At last "Peg o' My Heart" is to be filmed. Lasky has purchased the screen rights, and the cast is soon to be chosen. Wanda Hawley, who has been supporting Bryant Washburn of the Paramount forces and Elliott Dexter in their latest photoplays, will play the title role.

"One-Thing-at-a-Time o' Day" is the title of Bert Lytell's newest picture which is rapidly nearing completion. The film is taken from a story in the Saturday evening post by William Dudley Peery, and most of the action is concerned with circus life under the "big tent."

Charles Ray's next "rube" story will be called "The Bushy" and in it will be the long-looked-for baseball game.

Herbert Hayes, who made a such a hit with Lowell theatregoers a few seasons back when he played the male lead at the Lowell Opera House, has formed his own moving picture company. Gertrude Astor will play the female lead.

"The Fear Woman" is Pauline Frederick's newest vehicle, which has just been released by Goldwyn. The picture is said to be a powerful drama, laid in a modern, present-day environment. Not only is the famous star provided with a special story, up-to-the-minute in its every detail, but she is enabled to appear in a succession of ultra-fashional costumes, more gorgeous than she has ever worn on the stage or screen.

Kenneth Harlan is Mary Pickford's new leading man. Kenneth, who was a member of Mary's Own Regiment, the 143d California Field Artillery, recently returned from France, and Mary's new production will be his first screen appearance since his return. Harlan was last seen in support of Mac Murray in "Her Body in Bond."

Bryant Washburn has made quite a hit as an old clothes man during the Red Cross drive in Los Angeles. He went about shouting "Any old clothes" in such a realistic manner that he is being congratulated upon a new characterization.

Dorothy Phillips says that she can register happiness merely by thinking of all the nice things a month's salary would buy, and also register pain by thinking of her income tax.

Lois Wilson is busy these days getting a handsome wardrobe together. She's going to be Dustin Farnum's leading lady and that's the reason.

FUNNY BILLIE BURKE AT THE B. F. KEITH THEATRE, NEXT WEEK

Tomorrow's bill at the B. F. Keith theatre will have most of the favorite acts of the present week, with three all new ones. Frank Mullane, who has been making everybody laugh, will be retained, and the Klein Brothers will also appear. The girls will be the roguish Jan, Frank Marckley, Banjoist, and Stephens and Hollister. In their skit, will also be seen and heard. The new acts as those of Marston & Manley, Shepherd & Ott, and Manning. Billie Reeves, comedian of the Follies, will be in a funny mud pie, and the famous drunk is expected, will be seen at the head of the bill at Keith's next week, in "The Right Key, but the Wrong Door." Billie Reeves turns out laughs faster than Henry Ford manufactures flivvers. Originally from Lowell, with Keith's "Nest in an English Music Hall," and the act became so popular that there wasn't a vaudeville theatre in the country that didn't get to know him. Later Florenz Ziegfeld drafted him for work in his follies. It was in this that Billie did her funny stunt of going down the aisle, presenting a bouquet of flowers to one of the dancers, and then falling into a tank of water on the stage. Reeves does an intoxicating stunt, but it is not offensive; it is funny right from the start. As the girls in him are Carroll Clusas and Holly Lewis.

Hank Brown, whose fun is of a kind not easily described, will talk and talk and talk some more. He will sing, he will dance, he will just get every thorough, alive to the fact that the crowd is interested in about medium. His work is all for fun; it has no other reason for existing. Joe Towle, who is also a comedian, says his mission in life is to make everybody happy. He isn't simply a good talker, he doesn't do things among others he tells about an entire vaudeville show, and offers some of the people we have known during the past season.

"Our Family," a domestic drama, with Jane Courthope to be one of the week's real hits. It is an intimate study of family life, admirably acted and compelling in every line of it. Work and Heit are acrobatic comedians, who have a very funny act, and Top and Bottom do stunts that amaze the audience. Leo and Willard are a man and a woman who play various instruments. The Kinograms and a film comedy will also be shown at each performance.

FAREWELL WEEK AT THE LOWELL OPERA HOUSE—GOOD BILL FOR WEEK

Next week will be "farewell week" at the Lowell Opera House. It will mark the concluding week of engagement by the popular Emerson All Star Players. At Monday matinee there will be a reception to Miss Alice Glennister, on Tuesday afternoon Miss Ferris will hold a reception, on Wednesday Miss Girard Huntington, and on Thursday evening Jane Salisbury. The "bid will come off" at the good-bye performance Saturday night. Attend and enjoy it.

The week's attraction will be the great novelty comedy drama, "The Man in the Shadow," with a cast of Laura Hinney and Alaud Ferris. The presentation by the players will mark its first presentation on any American stage by a stock company, and one of the first outside of its successful original run on Broadway. The fact is going to be a great draw from Broadway, after being brought back there for a second engagement. The play, which is as unique as it is interesting, is based on the scientific phenomenon of asphasia. The stellar role, which will be portrayed by Mr. Nease, will have a double personality which is as perplexing as that of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." The hero loses his identity as a result of a blow on the head, and recovers it 12 years later through a similar injury in a railroad wreck. In the interval he has been a man, a woman, and in the head of both a household and a business. The audience is introduced to him as he is returning from an unconscious state, induced by the wreck, when in his real identity, he knows nothing of his responsibility, which he had acquired in the preceding 12 years. Upon this foundation is built many complexing situations of mistaken identity. The best part of the play is a mystery that starts to develop and deepen in the second act. It is absolutely guaranteed that the play is going to turn out in the end, an dot of course we wouldn't deprive you of the real pleasure by telling you. Just attend and give your very best guess and then perhaps, find that you are wrong. The comedy element in the piece is strong and well drawn. Nease should find full play for his exceptional capabilities, and Miss Salisbury, Miss Girard Huntington, Arthur LaRue, Arthur Buchanan, Alice Glennister and the others will surely be set to good advantage. The scenes are such that the staging of the piece will be adequately looked after, always is when handled by Director Glassmire. Don't forget that the early performances of the week are given with the same smoothness and satisfaction as the week-end presentations.

TURN SOMERSAULTS! SCARES OLD AGE

Turn somersaults on your lawn, jingles, and the hands of your clock will turn backward 20 or 30 years. That is the gospel of Mrs. Diana Watts, 50 years old, who looks 25 and feels 10.

Mrs. Watts declares the fountain of youth lies in the games and dances of the ancient Greeks. In Capri, Italy, where she made her home for a decade she studied old statues and mastered the pentathlon—running, wrestling, leaping, throwing the discus and hurling the javelin.

"There is something wrong with the woman who cannot turn a graceful somersault, no matter what her years," says Mrs. Watts. "At 40 I found myself becoming prematurely aged. Today I am young again. Rhythm, harmony between mind and body, grace and exercise will keep anyone young in spite of age. These beautiful exercises are available for the girl or woman who works as for anyone else. They conquer the wearing effects of daily toil and worry."

Mrs. Watts is now in Berkeley, Cal., where she lately stated she could down in a wrestling match the strongest male student on the campus. There were no takers. When visiting Yale, she shook that centre of learning to its foundations by turning a somersault on the college lawn. So gracefully was it done that nobody was even shocked and she received many invitations to repeat the exhibit.

WHO OWNS THIS DOG?

Handsome Mild-Eyed Thoroughbred in Shadow of Death at Police Station

"Your dog, and my dog, and all dogs are alike.
So noble and so loving and so dear;
And you love them when you're mellow;
And just the same as when a tike.
And I wish I had my old dog here!"

There's a handsome, buff-colored, long-haired dog at the police station awaiting an owner. He is within the shadow of death, too, for he is tied in a stall only a few feet removed from the gas box and the sentence of death will be pronounced upon him before the sun goes down unless somebody comes to the front to ask reprieve of sentence and claim ownership. The dog was struck and slightly injured by an automobile in Middlesex street yesterday and was taken to the police station by Special Officer Gilmore of the Lowell Humane society. Officer Gilmore treated the dog's injuries and he sincerely hopes that somebody will claim him before the gas box sentence is pronounced.

Mr. Gilmore loves dogs and this particular dog, he says, has endeared himself to the officer because of his patient suffering and the high development of what the officer calls "dog philosophy."

The dog wears a collar, but there is no name on it, and the cold, cruel unsympathetic law that governs dog life reads that a dog taken to the station without name or license number on the collar must be classed as a stray dog and that means the gas box unless the owner of the dog appears on the scene and snatches the dumb one from the box of death.

Mr. Gilmore thinks that somewhere somebody is listening in vain for the music of the barking of his dog, and that he may be thinking the thoughts expressed in the following lines:

"When my dog looks at yer friendly outer meltin' pretty eyes,
An' if yer legs tall an' tries ter lick
yer hands,
Then I don't care wot yer look like, an'
I care wot yer been,
Ter good enough for me—yer understand?
Sometimes a human bein' judges by yer fancy coat,
An' if yer gloves an' shoes is new an' whole;
But a dog, when he looks at yer,
doesn't notice little things;
A dog—dog he judges by yer soul."

CAR HITS WAGON

A work team owned by J. W. Stewart & Co., plumbers, of 330 Bridge st., was side-swiped by a North Chelmsford electric car at Central and Merrimack streets at 10:30 o'clock this forenoon, the whitewheel of the wagon being snapped. The car was making the turn into the square when the rear end struck the wheel of the wagon.

"Look Over the Car Thoroughly Before Driving in Congested Traffic"

THE WOMAN MOTORIST

Captain Katherine Richards
Gives Timely Tips on Handling Car in Traffic

BY CAPT. KATHERINE RICHARDS
Commanding the Woman's Motor Corps of the National League for Women's Service.

The beginner should never attempt to drive a motor car in heavy traffic. Driving in traffic requires perfect control of the car, constant watchfulness, observance of traffic rules, almost continual shifting of gears, starts, stops, turns and braking the car.

The prime requirement for driving in traffic is decision. You must make up your mind instantly what you are going to do. Always proceed a little slower than you think you ought to; then your car will always be under perfect control.

It is a good idea to think out problems of traffic ahead of time; plan what you are going to do when you get to that congested corner, and when you have made up your mind what to do, do it.

We have made it a rule with young women who have applied for enlistment in the Woman's Motor Corps of the National League for Women's Service that the applicant must first pass a rigid test in the traffic rules of the city in which she is to drive.

Give the driver behind you a clear signal if you are going to turn. When you want to stop at a curb, swing in gradually, not suddenly, so as to give the car behind a chance to swing out when you come to a stop. If you are going to turn a corner to the right, hug the curb closely. Don't swing your car half-way across the street in making the turn. Always slow up at crossings, and watch the signals and signs. In some cities there are one-way streets for traffic. Learn them and don't risk an accident by trying to drive the wrong way.

Always proceed a little slower than you think you ought to; then your car will always be under perfect control.

Practical Auto Tips

THE VALUE OF FLAPS
ON AUTOMOBILES

The value of flaps is not always to be gauged in dollars and cents. As a usual thing, they are worth more than their initial cost. Flaps were formerly fastened differently than at present. Tire manufacturers used to cement them to one side of the case. This practice turned out poorly, since the heat generated in carcass and casing allows the flap to become loose. Now, when a man finds anything loose around an automobile, he may expect to find trouble. That proved to be the case here, for it within limits to adjust itself to capture the flap, having once pried itself away from the rim.

from its anchorage, proceeded to slip out of position altogether, little by little to creep under the beads, and in the end to wrinkle the tube and seriously chafe it.

As a consequence, the flap in its present form—the "floating flap," we might term it, for lack of a better name—came into existence and then into vogue. The floating flap has proved much more satisfactory because, when it is used, the tire may be applied much more readily to the rim and the flap itself generally "stays put," if it gets half a chance. And yet mobile, the slight mobility of the flap enables the head to adjust itself to capture the flap, having once pried itself away from the rim.

What has been saying pertains, it may be, rather to the historic side of the much neglected flap. In this case, however, as many others, some acquaintance with the evolution of the thing teaches us better how to handle it.

One other point should be emphasized: Flaps are not used enough. They soon pay for themselves. If they become wet or wrinkled or otherwise damaged, get new ones; for the expense is but nominal and the sure protection afforded to both inner tube and outer casing is well worth considering. Don't neglect to use flaps.

Elaborate plans are being made for the annual banquet and social of the Sacred Heart school alumni association, to be held in the school hall on Thursday evening, May 22. The various committees have been working untiringly on the arrangements and have practically completed the entire program.

This year's meeting will be the most significant in the history of the organization, for it will bring together not only many out-of-town members, but also many members, both boys and girls, who served in the various military and naval branches of the service during the war.

MARKET AND PALMER STREETS

ments and refinements upon the floating flap were made in the course of time; for example, it was split, and the ends notched in such a manner as to make the flap adjust itself in circumference to accommodate variation in the size.

A few years ago it was common to employ the rim strap, which was a strip of fabric tightly stretched on the rim. By this method the beads were compelled to fit snugly to the rim clinched, at the same time protecting the tube from rust and other detriment. As a whole, however, the scheme was given up. While it was not necessary to use flaps with clincher tires of small size, it is really the proper thing to do with this four inches, unless clips or spreaders are used to hold the beads tightly in the clinches of the rim so that inner tubes will not be pinched or damaged. The beads of quick detachable clincher cases and cables of straight side cases are non-stretchable, and are, therefore, made to suit the approximate diameter of the rim. Flaps should be used in all sizes of quick detachable clincher and straight side cases, or much difficulty will be experienced with the inner tubes.
